King Calls For Three-Stage Alabama Economic Boycott

POOR FOUNDATIONS — N. B. Rights Leader Asks Immediate Action

BALTIMORE (UPI)—Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. called today for an immediate three-stage economic boycott against the state of Alabama in protest of the racial situation there.

He said the move should culminate, if necessary, in "a boycott of specific consumer products."

The first phase of the boycott calls upon all industries "which may be contemplating plant expansion in location in Alabama to immediately suspend their plans for such expansion."

Also in stage one, King called upon the federal government to vigorously step up its enforcement of Title VI of the 1964 Civil Rights act.

LABOR PORTFOLIOS

Stage 2 of the program calls for private institutions, churches and labor unions to examine their investment portfolios to insure that their funds are not being used "to support racism and brutality in Alabama."

It also requests the federal government, through the Department of the Treasury, to withdraw federal tax dollars now deposited in Alabama banks.

Stage three would set up "a boycott of specific consumer products which will be carefully selected by a staff-board committee."

STAGE TO STAGE

"This plan will move from stage to stage in the event that the preceeding stage proves fruitless," Dr. King said. "We will have no alternative but to move to stronger action, stage by stage, if our efforts do not meet with a good faith response."

King announced his boycott proposal at a news conference in Baltimore, where he has spent the last three days conferring with officials of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

Corte Madera Flood Control Work To Start

Kettenhofen Says First-Phase Bids Set For May, '66

Flood Control on Carte Madera Creek, a project that has long been subject of debate in Ross Valley, will begin next spring, Marin County Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen announced today.

Kettenhofen said he received word from the Army Corps of Engineers that bids on the first phase of the job, from Bon Air Bridge south to the railroad bridge where the creek enters San Francisco Bay, will be asked in May, 1966.

This phase calls for creek dredging and levees.

SECOND PHASE

The second phase will go to bids within 90 days after the first bids are opened. This calls for dredging and levees from Bon Air Bridge north to the College of Marin Campus, with a "stilling" basin south of the campus.

Purpose of the basin is to provide deep water where the fury of floods can be slowed down.

Third phase, through the College to the Ross city line, which involves some concrete structures, will go to bid about a year after the first two jobs, Kettenhofen said.

"This is a real feather in my cap," the supervisor said.

UPPER PORTION

One plan in Kettenhofen's campaign platform was to get the upper portion of the Corte Madera Creek project removed due to protests from Ross, San Anselmo and Fairfax over the design which called for a concrete-lined ditch.

Kettenhofen said he plans to visit city councils of each of the three cities asking their endorsement of the flood control work through their cities with "veto power" on design.

In other words, the completion of the entire project above the College of Marin will not come to pass until all cities approve the design through their territory, Kettenhofen said.

FOUR YANKS DIE IN VIET BATTLE

Taylor Says U.S. Must Be Prepared For Anything; Soviet Ships Watched

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Four U.S. Army men were killed and six others wounded in an assault on a Viet Cong stronghold 20 miles west of Saigon, U.S. military spokesmen reported today. Heavy casualties, both government and Communist, were reported in other actions in South Viet Nam. (See also photo, page 6.)

Two of the American dead and some of the wounded were helicopter crewmen. Two U.S. Army helicopters were shot down during the fighting.

Reports of the fighting, in Hau Nghia Province, were fragmentary. Early reports said five South Vietnamese soldiers were killed and 20 wounded during the first phase yesterday.

The American dead brought the U.S. toll in Vietnamese combat since December 1961 to 320.

Thirty-three U.S. jet fighters and bombers blasted suspected Viet Cong concentrations at various sites inside South Viet Nam today. The biggest raid was by 17 F100 Super Sabre Jets in Quang Tri Province, not far from the North Vietnamese border.

Authorities reported that both government forces and the Viet Cong suffered heavy casualties in a major battle Wednesday in Qung Tin Province, 350 miles north of Saigon.

U.S. Air Force F100s from nearby Da Nang airbase swooped in and apparently saved fleeing Vietnamese marines from possible annihilation, at the same time inflicting a heavy toll on the pursuing Viet Cong.

Official accounts said the gov-

STEPHEN FEIDER
Victim of canal?

Canal Hunt Concentrates For Boy, 5

Search for 5-year-old Stephen Feider today concentrated again on the San Rafael Canal where the missing youngster is feared to have drowned Tuesday.

San Rafael police and volunteers resumed dragging the canal for the third day. Divers reported the water is too murky even for underwater lights to be useful.

Stephen, only child of Mr. and Mrs. Nick Feider of 260 Canal Street, Apt. 115, disappeared Tuesday afternoon. The family moved only Saturday from Los Angeles into the apartment. The little boy was last seen playing near the canal.

Three boats combed the canal continuously until dark last night and resumed the search today. Thirty police, firemen and volunteers were in the area, according to Police Chief Charles J. Chiesa.

Police Lt. Lincoln M. Borba was in charge of the search.

An earlier hunt through vacant lots, parked cars and neighborhood buildings failed to locate the boy. A bloodhound repeatedly led searchers to the water's edge.

U.C. Mass Trial Gets Underway

BERKELEY (UPI) — After months of talks, legal maneuvers and compromises, the mass trial of the University of California sit-ins was underway today.

The curtain on the legal drama rose yesterday when Municipal Judge Rupert Crittenden gaveled the opening session of the mass trial of 155 of the 773 persons arrested in last December's Sproul Hall free speech demonstrations on the Berkeley campus.

The 155 are being tried as representatives of the nearly 600 of those arrested who pleaded innocent. This arrangement was hammered out through three months of negotiations and legal argument.

'Integration' Plan Is Given Marin Schools

Marin County communities should be "following a dynamic plan of school integration," Neil V. Sullivan, superintendent of Berkeley Unified School District, said last night.

Integration was at the top of Sullivan's list of things to do in education, presented to the Marin County Human Rights Commisison at the Civic Center.

The list ranged from lengthening the school day, week and year to providing breakfast for poor pupils who arrive at school hungry.

"We have to break down the stereotype and expose students early to other races," he said. "The ideal time to integrate is at nursery school because it is difficult to integrate late in life."

The struggle for human rights and social change is going to continue, he predicted. "If anyone thinks he is going to live with the status quo . . . forget it," he said.

"If we perpetuate small neighborhood schools, we perpetuate the concept of a master race," Sullivan contended.

He admitted that integrated schools "were not the panacea"

CONSTRUCTION CRACKS

Blight Building Shows In Marin

By FRANK FARRARA

Shoddy construction, the blight of tract development, is creeping into Marin County.

There have been cases revealed of slap-dash workmanship, poor foundations, separating walls and inferior materials.

Hans Berge, chief county building inspector, puts the blame mostly on poor workmanship, while N. B. Campbell, business representative, Bay Counties District Council of Carpenters, puts the blame on "out-of-town" developers.

These developers require workmen to rush work to the extent that a competent job cannot be done, Campbell declared.

"They require workmen to do piecework and quality is the last consideration," he said. "Dozens of workmen have quit because they wouldn't do that kind of work."

Campbell said Marin builders are not involved in "taking short cuts" in construction, but they are "being hurt" because they are competing "with the other guys who are taking the short cuts."

Berge said 75 per cent of the problems are the result of poor workmanship, but other factors are building on adobe soil, building on fill and use of poor materials.

Where work does not meet building code standards it is turned down, Berge said. "In some cases work has been turned down three or four times."

Inspectors "can only demand what the code requires and it doesn't specify workmanship," Berge said.

Campbell contended the "code can provide for workmanship by making it stiff and specific." He urged that building inspectors be given the power to stop work immediately "and make right what's wrong before any other

Reward Goes To $50,000 In Bombing

COMBINED AP & UPI

Reward money for Birmingham's bomber "fiend" rose to $50,000 today and police rode the streets in unmarked cars on guard against new outbreaks in a wave of terror.

A bomb blast yesterday broke the pre-dawn silence near the Alabama city's "dynamite hill" and injured a 13-year-old Negro boy.

Two time bombs were found later ticking away at the homes of Mayor Albert Boutwell and City Councilman Nina Miglionico but were disarmed before they exploded. They were the eighth and ninth unexploded time bombs found in the city within the past 11 days.

INSPECTS DAMAGE

Wallace called the bombing the work of a "fiend."

"We hope to impress upon the people doing this they might get caught . . . that they're going to get caught . . . they're bound to get caught," Wallace said.

"I appeal to anyone who has knowledge of this to come to the police. If you want to help your state, your country, your governor, this city, then I urge you to come forward."

PUTS UP REWARD

Wallace put up $5,000 reward and by nightfall the amount had grown to $50,000 in pledges, according to city council President M. E. Wiggins.

At Chattanooga, Tenn., James R. Hoffa, Teamsters Union president, said today he will not compromise in his gift of $25,000 to Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.'s Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

The Chattanooga News-Free Press said in today's editions that Hoffa made the statement in a telephone interview with staff writer Julius Parker.

Teamsters Local 515 of Chattanooga sent telegrams to Hoffa to protect his action Sunday at the funeral of a slain civil rights worker.

Hoffa gave King the $25,000

Gnoss Promises Vote To Go On As Usual

Marin County Clerk George H. Gnoss promised today that anyone who has a legal right will be able to vote in the April 12 San Rafael city election and April 20 school board elections.

This came in the wake of a dispute between Gnoss' election department and the data processing division of the county, which tabulates and records the voter registration roll.

On Tuesday, County Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker asked for a review of voter registration and charged that mistakes in the rolls have been pointed out to him "time after time" in connection with the city election.

Gnoss then told the board he was "at the mercy of IBM machines." Yesterday Arleigh R. Sewell, director of the data processing division, defended his system but said it was only as

Speed Limit Of 55-MPH Set For Waldo

Speed limit on nearly three miles of Highway 101, from the Golden Gate Bridge over Waldo Grade to Rodeo Avenue, is being lowered from 65 back to 55 miles per hour.

The change, made at the request of the California Highway Patrol, will take effect as soon as road crews can post new signs, according to district engineer Alan S. Hart of the State Division of Highways.

It will return the 2.9 mile-stretch to the same speed limit it had until the state-wide limit was raised in 1960. Patrolmen have blamed the higher speed, as well as drivers following too closely, for a growing accident rate on this section of highway.

Surprise Party Held For Vinson

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson led a bipartisan surprise party today for Carl Vinson who had been chairman of the House Armed Services Committee for so long he became, in a sense, the committee.

The celebration was to dedicate in Vinson's name the committee's plush hearing room in the new Rayburn House Office Building.

Vinson, 81, retired from Congress last year. Practically everyone was on hand today to welcome him back — the President, most of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, house leaders and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

Funds For Embassy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Acting with extraordinary speed, the House Foreign Affairs Committee today authorized $1 million for a new U.S. Embassy office building in Saigon. The bill is scheduled for quick House action Monday.

Tahoe Study Bill Signed

CARSON CITY (AP) — Gov. Grant Sawyer has signed a bill appropriating $10,000 for Nevada's share of a joint committee with California to study the problems of the Lake Tahoe Basin.

A bill introduced in the California legislature would appropriate $40,000 for that state's share.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Georgia Wins Re-Mapping Delay

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—A three-judge federal court has given the Georgia Legislature three more years to complete reapportionment in a ruling which seemed to please almost everyone.

Gov. Carl E. Sanders called it "a victory for every citizen of our state."

Urban citizens achieved the promise of more of a voice in government while rural areas were given additional time to develop minority strength.

The tribunal yesterday gave the legislature until the end of the 1968 session, or May 1, 1968—which ever date comes first—to reapportion more in keeping with the U.S. Supreme Court one-man one-vote ruling.

U.S. Tourists Popular In Egypt

CAIRO (AP) — The Egyptian government's recent anti-American campaign scared some American tourists away last December and January but it doesn't seem to have bothered the ordinary Egyptian.

Americans are still the most popular tourists here.

Even the Egyptian government seems to like them. The flow of tourists is picking up again and government tourist officials are working overtime to push it.

They are promising new hotels, cheaper package tours, a major advertising campaign in the United States and a drastic reduction in red tape.

MUD MAKES MESS—Joseph Dwire with shovel in hand looks over the discouraging task of removing mud from garage of his home on Country Club Drive in Burbank yesterday. Mudslides, Floods Threaten Southern California Areas

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Threats of mudslides and floods hovered over parts of Southern California today as new storms converged from the Pacific and the Northwest.

Up to five inches of rain had accumulated in some areas last night with at least another half-inch forecast from two new storms that should hit coastal regions tonight and tomorrow.

Burbank residents began clearing away mud and debris from previous storms that turned streets into muddy streams and littered yards with tree branches.

A four minute electrical storm snapped three power poles in Downey and wires were reported down in six locations. Lightning sheared 55-feet off a 75-foot deodar tree in Pasadena, scattering limb fragments over a wide area. More than 30 trees were reported down in the Los Angeles area, blocking streets and sidewalks.

Hail pounded Glendora, Pasadena and La Canada and from one to three feet of snow blanketed peaks in the San Gabriel, San Jacinto, Tehachapi, and San Bernardino Mountains.

Snow closed the Angeles Crest Highway at the 5,000-foot level but forest rangers feared mud slides might block the road at as low as 2,000-feet today.

Three feet of water flooded a new railroad underpass in Santa Ana but the structure was not damaged.

Minor slides were reported in the Chevy Chase Canyon area of Glendale and tree limbs and other debris swept onto Sunset Boulevard and other streets in the Hollywood Hills.

Police cautioned residents not to leave their homes because of flooded streets and mudslides. At least two cars were washed downhill by slides, police said, but no injuries were reported.

Jobless Drop Is Called Best News Of 1965

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Johnson believes that the decline in the nation's unemployment rate to the lowest point in 7-½ years is the best economic news of 1965.

But Johnson wants business and labor to continue cooperating to keep the economic boom rolling and reduce joblessness even more.

Johnson made the comment yesterday after the Labor Department announced that unemployment fell by 478,000 in March to 3.74 million.

Even more important, the seasonally adjusted jobless rate dropped to 4.7 per cent of the labor foce — its lowest rate since October, 1957.

This means that 47 of every 1,000 persons in the labor force were looking for a job last month but did not find one.

"There is much good news economically this year," Johnson said in a statement opening an impromptu news conference.

"The news of this gain on employment is the best — and the most important of all. Good as it is, 4.7 per cent unemployment is too high.

"That figure means the number of unemployed in our economy is equal to or greater than the individual populations of two-thirds of our states — states like Connecticut or Kansas, or Tennessee or Washington.

"That many is too many."

Death Penalty 'Justifiable'

NEW YORK (AP) — A nationwide poll of Protestants showed today that 64 per cent of those surveyed consider the death penalty morally justifiable, and 61 per cent regard it as a deterrent to crime.

Replies in the survey, taken by Christian Herald magazine, came from more than 13,500 persons in a cross section of Protestant denominations.

Seventy-one per cent of the women under 30, however, said capital punishment was never justifiable.

Sixty-four per cent said they did not think it deterred crime.

Two Generals Hurt In Parachute Jumps

WIESBADEN, Germany (UPI)—Maj. Gen. John K. Hester, 48, commander of the U.S. 17th Air Force, was injured seriously today in a parachute qualification jump at Mannheim, an Air Force spokesman said.

Hester was the second American general to suffer serious injuries in a prachute jump within two days.

The spokesman at U.S. Air Force European headquarters in Wiesbaden said Hester was flown by helicopter from the site of the accident to the Air Force hospital here.

Details of Hester's injuries were not disclosed immediately.

Brig. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell of the U.S. Army was badly hurt yesterday at Fort Bragg, N.C.

Stilwell was admitted to the Fort Bragg hospital's seriously injured section with a fractured lower back, fractured pelvis, fracture of both heels, contusions to the chest and lacerations of the face.

Dynamic Plan For School Integration Urged In Marin

for human rights problems. "The panacea has to be employment opportunities," he said.

The problem of the classroom dropout is crucial because the dropout "becomes a second class citizen" immediately, he said.

In the past, when educators talked about bringing each individual to his highest potential "they were talking about "the fat middle-class kids," declared Sullivan.

He also stressed the need for a system of compensatory education "to prevent or overcome early deficiencies that are not the fault of the child." It must start when the children are only two and one-half years old, he contended. "If we wait until they are six, it's too late to do anything about it."

Among Sullivan's other revolutionary suggestions was a proposal that schools extend their day so students could both work and attend school.

"How about a student attending from 11 to six or one to nine?" he asked. "We have structured the schedule for the convenience of administrators, not for the convenience of the children."

He also urged that school year be lengthened, with teachers working 12 months a year, and that school libraries and gymnasiums be open evenings "because in most communities the schools are the only place a kid has to go."

Sullivan, who served as superintendent of the Free Schools Assn. in Prince Edward County, Va., when public schools were closest to prevent integration, said Negro pupils were falling asleep by 11 a.m. because of hunger.

"When we fed them they achieved twice as much in one year as the white pupils did in two years," he said.

Some of his other comments were:

TEXTBOOKS — Negro history has been withheld from history books. Textbooks should include all the facts about all the races, and should relate to life as children know it.

SCHOOL ORGANIZATION — Schools should be reorganized on the basis of "continuous" progress" with non-graded classes. Class sizes should be reduced, and teachers' aides provided.

EDUCATORS — Educators "have leaned in the direction of the strongest wind" and "have not been forceful."

SCHOOLS AND JOBS—There should be on-the-job training to provide the vocational training "they are not getting in high school," and schools could be job opportunity centers, serving as placement bureaus.

CITIZEN PARTICIPATION—An inter-group educational program should be developed involving citizens in its problems.

SEX EDUCATION — Many dropouts result from sexual promiscuity, pregnancy and marriage, and "unfortunately sex education is reserved for students 16 and 17 when children are more aware than we think and there is no reason why they can't be taught about sex at an earlier age."

CLOTHING AND AID—Clothing should be available for every needy child who might stay out of school for lack of proper clothes. The family of a student who is forced to drop out of school to help support the family should be given direct financial help so the student can stay in school.

SCHOOL BOARDS — The schools boards "are the key," but cannot carry the burden without the moral and economic support of the community.

READING—Instead of remedial reading, there should be "re-training of all teachers who supposedly are teaching reading."

Auto Makers Shatter Record

DETROIT (UPI) — The auto industry set some more records yesterday.

For the first time, the industry has built more than 900,000 cars in a single month.

The industry built 964,292 cars in March, shattering the old one-month high of 866,632 set last December.

Carmakers also set a three-month record by building 2,560,547 cars over the January-March period.

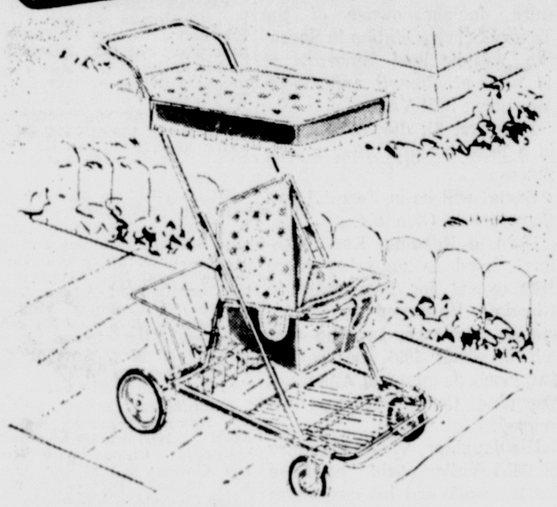

This broke the old quarterly mark of 2,291,173 cars set in the final three months of 1963.

FIREMEN BURN LANDMARK HOUSE

The former Manuel Brazil home at 706 Olive Avenue, Novato—a landmark for well over 60 years—was burned by Novato firemen as a fire control exercise yesterday. The firemen took about four hours to burn the structure, in a series of drills, putting out the blaze and then igniting it again. (Independent-Journal photo) good as the information given him by the elections department.

Helmut Endres, data processing programmer, told the Independent-Journal that John Musser, head of the elections department, once said he had no time to correct errors reported back to him by data processing.

Musser told the Independent-Journal today that he had "absolutely nothing to say."

County Administrator Alan Bruce also declined to enter the dispute until after he completes the study requested by the board.

Gnoss charged the dispute has been "blown up."

"Nothing has been presented to me that would indicate there is any problem," Gnoss said.

He said he thought no one would be in the category of not being able to vote due to registration roll error in either of the coming elections.

Gnoss said supervisorial redistricting has thrown an extra burden on the elections department and more help is needed in the department. But he promised there will be no voting problem for anyone.

Lumber Stolen

Copper Cable Stolen From Contractor

W. C. Saville, electrical contractor at 765 Redwood Highway, Alto, reported theft of 300 feet of copper cable from the firm's fenced-in yard Tuesday night or Wednesday morning, sheriff's officers said today.

The yard is adjacent to that of Goodman Building Supply Co. in which a man was arrested Tuesday night by sheriff's deputies.

Ray K. Kastens, electrical superintendent at Saville's, said someone apparently climbed Saville's fence, took the cable—valued at $200—and pulled another 150 feet of cable through the fence before apparently being frightened off.

Society Figure Is Arrested In Narcotic Case

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A man about town and his chauffeur were accused today of suspicion of burglary, suspicion of receiving stolen property and possession of narcotics.

John Atherton Barrett, 44, son of a former U.S. ambassador, was arrested last night in his six-room apartment where he frequently entertained socialites at afternoon teas.

Police inspector Nate Podrini said officers found more than $7,500 in stolen art objects and antiques in the apartment. Police reported they uncovered more than 7,000 pills, mostly barbiturates.

Also arrested on the same charges was Barrett's chauffeur, Herbert Lee Soule, 23.

Larkspur Chamber

The Larkspur Chamber of Commerce yesterday set a meeting for 8 p.m., April 20 at city hall for a discussion of development of the downtown area and the Larkspur General Plan with planning consultant John David Erickson.

check "with no strings attached" at the funeral of Viola Gregg Liuzzo of Detroit, who was killed last week in Lowndes County, Ala.

The Chattanooga Teamsters asked that their portion of the contribution be returned.

At Camden, Ala., civil rights demonstrators planned today to attempt an other march on the courthouse of this small southwest Alabama town and the mayor was equally determined to prevent it.

Mayor Reg Albritton, 42, personally stopped three of the four marches staged here this week, once with smoke bombs. There were no injuries.

The mayor said yesterday he was willing to meet with any of the Negroes to discuss their problems.

1. President Johnson withheld specific comment on Rev. King's proposed boycott of Alabama products when questioned during a Washington news conference.

2. Fifty biracial civil rights pickets were jailed at Shaw, Miss., after police said they refused to leave the grounds of a Negro high school. They were charged with disturbing the peace and disturbing a school. Bonds were set at $100 each.

3. A House Judiciary subcommittee concluded its hearing on the administrations votingrights bill. It will start reworking the measure next week and may broaden the proposed legislation.

Larkspur Man Is Booked In Battery Case

Larkspur police last night arrested James H. Melvin, 31, of 675 Magnolia Avenue, after Mrs. Alzepher Johnson, 38, of the same address, claimed he hit her over the head with a table lamp.

Melvin was booked at Marin County jail on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon. He was released today on $550 bail, to appear in Marin Municipal Court Tuesday.

Mrs. Johnson was treated at Marin General Hospital for a cut over her eye and a bruised head.

Police said Melvin admitted hitting the woman, but claimed she had threatened him with a kitchen knife. Mrs. Johnson said she was sitting in her living room when Melvin climbed in a broken bedroom window, came up behind her and knocked her out, police reported.

When police arrived at 11:20 p.m. they found the woman lying against an overturned chair with broken glass around her.

Mother Remains In Poor Condition

Mrs. Marlene Heirsche, 25, of Martinez, whose car skidded and rolled off Highway 101 north of Novato Sunday, remained in poor condition and under intensive care at Marin General Hospital today.

Her son, David, 7, has been moved from the intensive care unit to the pediatrics ward of the hospital and has shown slight improvement, nurses said.

Car Wash Tomorrow

The Tar Service Club, made up of students at College of Marin, will hold a fund-raising car wash from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. tomorrow at the Union Service Station in the Northgate Shopping Center, San Rafael.

Judge Blocks Mill Valley's Annex Plan

Judge Samuel W. Gardiner of Marin Superior Court today issued an order blocking Mill Valley's tidelands-Alto Strip annexation from becoming effective April 14.

Judge Gardiner ruled that George Leo Zaro is entitled to full hearing on allegations of illegal annexation proceedings and issued a writ restraining Mill Valley from completing tthe annexation pending outcome of the hearing. He said he would schedule the hearing later.

The judge denied another apulication by Zaro and Alcan-Marin Ltd. to halt the annexation on the basis of "undisputed facts."

Attorney S. J. Hugh Allen, representing Zaro and Alcan, has accused Mill Valley of "reckless and determined disregard of applicable laws" in its ordinance passage.

Judge Gardiner is hearing another civil case, estimated to take a month, and the annexation hearing is not expected until it is completed.

Embezzle Trial Ends In Hung Jury

Trial of Gene Kissinger, 38-year-old former manager of Black Market in San Anselmo accused of embezzling money and merchandise from the firm, resulted last night in a hung jury.

The panel, which began deliberations at 1:25 p.m. in Marin Superior Court, was first split on the grand theft embezzlement decision, then returned for further instructions from Judge Thomas F. Keating at 6 p.m.

Shortly afterward, the jury reported it was split 7-5 for conviction on a lesser and encluded misdemeanor theft charge, and could reach no verdict. Judge Keating dismissed the jury at 7 p.m. and rescheduling of new trial is 10 a.m. Monday.

Kissinger allegedly embezzled $16,000 in cash and store goods between November of 1963 and last May. He is represented by attorney W. O. Weissich. Deputy Dist. Atty. Joshua Thomas prosecuted. Trial began Tuesday.

Pigeon Arrives Without Message At RCA Station

Radio Corp. of America's transmitting station at Bolinas doesn't rely on pigeons to get the message through, but the folk there got a pigeon this morning.

As Mrs. Ralph J. Benevenga of Bolinas arrived at her office to start work, there came a tapping at the window.

A pigeon wanted to get in.

Mrs. Benevenga, RCA purchasing agent, opened the window. The pigeon flew in, lit on a rafter, and promptly went to sleep.

It had no message to be transmitted, said Mrs. Benevenga—just a racing band on one leg and a registration band (SCV 1387 Aug. 64) on the other.

She said she'd take it home and hope the owner calls.

ernment forces suffered 32 killed, 104 wounded and 20 missing during the fighting near Viet An, strategic redoubt controlling the approaches to Tam Ky, capital of the province.

It was also reported in Washington that Navy patrol planes are keeping tabs on Soviet shops and vessels of other nations heading through the Gulf of Tonkin toward Communist North Viet Nam.

The sources said today that these patrol aircraft sometimes fly as low as a few hundred feet to get clear identification of such ships, to photograph them, and to check on whether they are carrying deck cargo such as airplane fuselages, missile bodies, or tanks.

These sources deny Navy planes do any buzzing, which means a very low and harassing pass.

The Soviet Union has been claiming repeated U.S. buzzing of its ships off Viet Nam, in the East China Sea, and the Sea of Japan.

At Washington, Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor said today the war in Viet Nam is "a little like the stock market"—there are fluctuations in the action but "obviously we've got to be ready for anything."

Taylor scheduled appearances before House and Senate committees amid some cautious optimism that the situation in Viet Nam is taking a turn for the better.

He repeated that there is no plan of specific retaliation for the bombing of the U.S. Embassy in Saigon, and that "we are simply going to stay on our program of doing what we did before."

"Nothing dramatically new needs to be added," Taylor said.

All Employees Due Contracts

After a short closed meeting, the Tomales Bay School District board last night offered contracts to all of its employees for next year.

The board also signed contracts with the county superintendent's office for services of a curriculum supervisor, psychologist, nurse, speech therapist, and for audio-visual aids and library service for next school year.

The trustees voted to allow the Little League to use the school baseball diamond if a league is organized at Tomales this summer.

Bay Machinists Go On Strike

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Six thousand machinists struck 100 manufacturing plants in four San Francisco Bay Area counties today.

The walkout began yesterday as unionists voted 3,042 to 197 at stop work meetings to reject a "final offer" of the California Metal Trades Association.

The walkout involves seven union locals and plants in Alameda, Contra Costa, San Mateo and San Francisco counties which belong to the CMTA.

It will house student and faculty dining rooms, a snack bar, student lounge, student government workrooms and offices, book store and box office. The building will be entered from the second floor level shown here.

Nixon, Barry Differ On Vote Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two top Republicans — Barry Goldwater and Richard M. Nixon — stood on oposite sides today in the debate over legislation to guarantee Negro voting rights.

Goldwater said there are enough voting-rights laws on the books already — and added the legislation President Johnson now seeks "does nothing less than change our Constitution."

"If we are to do this," the party's 1964 presidential nominee told more than 2,000 Republican women yesterday, "we should be approaching the current legislation as an amendment to the Constitution."

But Nixon, the nominee in 1960, said action is needed now, to cope with a situation he termed volatile. He said a contitutional amendment would take too long.

"I think the Congress should act, but I think it should act judiciously," the former vice president told a news conference.

The 13th annual Republican Women's Conference hears today from Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, who played a major role in drafting the Johnson bill.

The party's top policymakers already are on record as advocates of federal action to guarantee all Americans their right to vote before the 1966 congressional elections.

The Republican Coordinating Committee took that stand March 10. Goldwater is a member, but he was not on hand then. Nixon was.

Nixon said a constitutional amendment on voting rights could not be effective in time for the 1966 balloting. He said that kind of delay would lead to new demonstrations and the danger of violence.

STICKY BUSINESS

'Spy' Finds Self In Pickle Over Toothpaste Intrigue

NEW YORK (UPI)—It could have been dubbed "The Great Toothpaste Caper." The story had most of the ingredients of international intrigue and espionage.

There was a dashing young executive: thousands of dollars in marked bills; a rendezvous of a New York airport, a top secret document, and, finally, agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

The protagonists in the story were neither East against West nor 007 versus Spectre, but the two great U.S. soap competitors: Proctor and Gamble and Colgate-Palmolive.

The story unfolded yesterday in U.S. district court here.

According to federal authorities, the "spy" of the case was Eugene Arthur Mayfield, 26, a former junior advertising executive of Procter & Gamble who currently works as products manager for a Chicago firm.

Mayfield allegedly placed a telephone call to a man from Colgate offering to sell P&G's 1965 plans for peddling its top product, Crest toothpaste .The 188 page document contained the projected budget and summarized P&G's advertising and marketing plant for Crest, worth at least $1 million to a competitor.

The alleged transaction took place at a men's room in the Trans World Airlines terminal at Kennedy International Airport on Nov. 14, 1964, with Mayfield and the man from Colgate in adjoining cubicles.

Unknown to Mayfield, FBI agents tipped off by the Colgate man watched as the spy traded a bulky envelope containing Thermofaxed pages of the P&G secrets for $20,000 in marked bills.

The spy then asked for the man from Colgate's trousers to assure his get-away. He dashed out of the cubicle and into the hands of the FBI, arrested on federal charges of using a telephone to further a dishonest scheme.

Yesterday Mayfield was indicted by a federal grand jury and freed on $2,500 bond. He is scheduled to plead April 15. If convicted he faces a maximum penalty of $10,000 fine and 10 years in prison.

U.S. attorney Joseph P. Hoey had nothing but praise for the unidentified people of Colgate-Palmolive for their swift action in contacting federal authorities.

They didn't eventake a peek at Procter & Gamble's plans, Hoey said.

Marin Aid Salvaging Food Program

A Marin group has helped to salvage a program to feed poverty-stricken people in Ecuador, according to two men who have just returned from that country.

They are Jesus Ramirez, coordinator of Meals for Millions, and Dr. Omar Fareed.

Each chapter of the organization is assigned one country. Thet Marin Chapter was given Ecuador as its project after a federal agency stopped financing a health food program there.

Meals for Millions provides multi-purpose noodles and wafers to supplement the diets of people in many countries who are unable to get enough protein.

The Marin chapter plans an entertainment program and reception in San Francisco May 26 as a fund-raising event.

Report Is Due In Mill Valley On Horse Trails

Horse trails on the north ridge will be reported upon by planning director Harvey E. Bragdon at a meeting of the Mill Valley City Council at 8 p.m. Monday.

Policies regarding juvenile delinquents by Councilman George E. Wickham and lot splits by Mayor Michael Wornum will be discussed. The council will discuss proposed emergency interim rezoning from apartments to duplex for the Corte Madera Avenue, Gardiner Street, West Blithedale Avenue area.

City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer will ask authorization to appoint an architect for a public safety building and approve a site for the building.

AFTER THE RAID, A WALK

Following a Viet Cong raid on a small village in the Hoi-An area, South Vietnamese marines arrived yesterday and moved out across a footbridge over a small river to attack rebel jungle positions. A "lost" batallion of South Vietnamese Rangers and their U.S. Advisers, trapped for three days by the Viet Cong fought off four determined assaults and crawled through enemy lines on their hands and knees to escape. Brown Act 'Loopholes' Measure Cleared By Assembly Committee

By WAT TAKESHITA

SACRAMENTO—An Assembly bill that would plug "loopholes" in the Brown Act (open meeting law) cleared the Assembly Committee on Government Organization yesterday over stubborn opposition from the League of California Cities and California County Supervisors Assn.

The bill is AB 946, by Assemblyman Milton Marks, R-San Francisco, who is also chairman of the committee.

Chairman Marks took "under consideration" several amendments demanded by the opposition. The bill now goes to the Assembly floor for debate. Marks said it is not likely to reach the floor for two or three weeks. In the meantime, he will study the opposition amendments to see if any of them should be incorporated.

On one point, Marks refused to concede. He wants committees and subcommittees of public bodies to come expressly under the law, whereas opponents wanted to exempt committees that do not constitute a quorum.

Carpenter charged the measure "is a wholly unwarranted extension of the Brown Act."

He and Merlman claimed the bill would hamstring elected officials and prevent them from operating effectively.

Carpenter asked for amendments including these:

1. The open meeting requirement should not apply to committees that do not constitute a quorum of the legislative body.

2. When a public official demands a public hearing on complaints or charges against him, the hearing would be open. But after all testimony is in, the legislative body should be allowed to deliberate (just like a jury) in closed session before announcing its decision.

3. Closed sessions should be allowed to consider the acquisition by the local agency of real property.

4. Closed sessions should be allowed for the local agency to consult with its attorney "on matters relating to pending, proposed or anticipated litigation to which the local agency is or may be a party."

Ben D. Martin, representing the California Newspaper Publishers Assn., fought the proposed amendments and urged passage of AB 946 intact.

Calling for open meetings of committees and subcommittees, Martin declared: "There have been attempts made to hide behind the Brown Act by use of committees and subcommittees."

Martin said it is a paradox that the league and the publishers association are on opposite sides of the issue. He noted that Brown Act was not written for the press or for the league but "for the people and the public good."

Roy Heatley, representing television news stations, and Fred Weybret of the Lodi News Sentinel also called for a stronger Brown Act.

Weybret said open discussion of land acquisition may result in a city's having to pay a premium, but discussion of land acquisition behind closed doors could also lead to premiums being paid to someone else.

Carpenter and Merlman were especially critical of the open meeting requirement for "one and two-man committees" who might meet at a luncheon in San Francisco, for example.

"We don't propose to stop casual meetings of councilmen," replied Martin. He said his concern is when casual meetings turn into meetings where decisions or commitments are made on public matters.

Carpenter charged that the legislature is trying to apply a double standard, reserving for itself the right to close its committee meetings while calling on cities to open all their committee meetings.

Chairman Marks told Carpenter that if he finds any committee meeting of the Legislature closed to the public, "you should point them out to us."

On a motion by Assemblyman Tom C. Carrell, D-San Fernando, the Assembly committee voted a unanimous "do pass" on AB 946.

Murder Victims' Family Care Urged By Judge

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Families of murder victims should receive compensation from the state, Superior Court Judge Francis McCarty says.

In a letter to state Sen. J. Eugene McAteer yesterday, the criminal court judge said that while the state spends millions of dollars for the care of criminals, "the victims of these same felons are forgotten."

He urged McAteer to introduce legislation which would provide full support for families of murder victims. Support would include education of the orphaned minor children through college, he said.

He also suggested that medical, dental and hospital care be provided for victims of strong-arm robberies, sluggings, rapes and felonious assaults, and said reimbursement for lost earnings should be made.

Republican Leaders Urge Lenient Unification Bill

A nine-man delegation of Marin Republican leaders went to Sacramento yesterday to urge passage of an Assembly bill which would make the state's school unification law a little more lenient.

The bill, introduced by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, is AB 771. Under the measure, when the local electorate rejects a proposal for unification along existing high school district boundaries, the State Board of Education must approve an alternative proposal if specified standards are met.

The Marin delegation was headed by Charles Michals, vice chairman of the Marin County Republican Central Committee, and Rodgers C. Broomhead, executive vice president of the Marin Republican Council.

Michals and Broomhead said they are "unalterably opposed" to the proposed unification of the entire Tamalpais High School District, which will come to a vote on April 20.

Legislature Still Stalled On Taxes

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The legislature, more than halfway through its regular session, remained stalled today over how to solve its most pressing problem—taxes.

Gov. Brown has said new taxes are needed just to meet the basic programs of a growing state. Even more revenue will be required, Brown said, to finance his proposed $142.5 million phase two — or optional—program.

The governor has suggested one approach, Assembly leaders a second, and the Senate could come up with a third alternative.

With 56 working days remaining until the regular session ends, the unsolved tax problem could help deadlock the legislature and plunge it into a special session.

The Senate Revenue and Taxation Committee is expected to issue its report on taxes — the result of a two year study—within the next 10 days.

Details of the report are not available, but it will contain a list of possible revenue sources.

Yesterday, the Assembly's $1.10 billion tax overhaul program, cosponsored by Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, D-Los Angeles, and Nicholas C. Petris, D-Oakland, will be introduced.

The tax program calls for withholding of state income taxes, increasing the cigarette tax from three to five cents a package, and raising the sales tax base to provide money to relieve hardpressed property taxpayers.

The program is likely to differ from Gov. Brown's.

Meanwhile, the Brown program for property tax reform may be presented to the lawmakers early next week.

Districting Measure Introduced

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Legislation that would abolish the state's 40 senatorial districts has been introduced in the upper house to provide machinery for expected reapportionment of the Senate.

The constitutional amendment, sponsored by Sen. Stephen P. Teale, D-Calaveras, would also eliminate a state constitutional provision that no Senate district shall be composed of more than three counties.

The measure "would provide a more flexible setup for any future legislation," Teale said yesterday.

Last year's historic U.S. Supreme Court "one man - one vote" ruling would mean that some California senatorial districts would have to be realigned to contain more than three counties, thus conflicting with the state constitution.

Floating Dock, Piling Sought

Permit to drive piling for construction of a house and floating dock in Richardson Bay at Belvedere, requested by Donald G. Davis of Belvedere, is being studied by the Army Corps of Engineers.

Objections to the proposal may be submitted in triplicate to Lt. Col. Robert H. Allan, district engineer, at 100 McAllister Street, San Francisco, until April 30.

A permit issues by the corps gives no property rights or any exclusive privileges to the applicant.

Agency Elects

Mrs. John W. Brewer of 134 Golden Hinde Boulevard, San Rafael, was elected to a two-year term on the board of the Family Service Agency of San Francisco at the agency's annual meeting.

Bagley Asks Supervisors Board Increase

A bill introduced yesterday in the State Assembly would permit counties to increase the size of the county board of supervisors from five members to seven or nine.

Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, introduced the measure at the request of Margaret Azevedo, chairman of the Marin Council for Civic Affairs.

The measure provides that the size of the board of supervisors can be increased by a resolution by the board or by majority vote of the people in the county.

Mrs. Azevedo said the Marin Council for Civic Affairs believes that a larger board of supervisors would:

1. Provide better and fuller representation to various sections and interests in a county.
2. Allow each supervisor to cover his district more thoroughly.
3. Permit the increasingly heavy workload to be spread among more members.

New Telephone Numbers Slated

Some 600 "north of the hill" residents of San Rafael will have new telephone numbers starting a week from today.

The change will coincide with delivery of the 1965 Marin County telephone directory, according to Gordon C. Davenport, San Rafael manager for Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co.

Affected customers have already been told by telephone that their 453, 454 or 456 numbers will be changed to ones starting with 472 or 479.

Callers who dial the old numbers after the change will be referred to the new ones, Davenport said.

College Course Fees Bill Is Introduced

The College of Marin has turned to the state Legislature for help in its year-long battle with a Belvedere housewife over the charging of fees for adult courses.

At request of Dr. Stephen E. Epler, college president, Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, yesterday introduced a bill to clarify the law on charging of fees.

The bill would authorize junior colleges to charge tuition fees to adults for both credit and non-credit courses, except for classes in English and in citizenship for foreigners.

The college has been charging for both credit and non-credit courses.

Mrs. Jane Sheehy, 36, a Belvedere housewife, refused to pay fees for classes in astronomy and United States history, alleging such fees were illegal.

"The attorney general recently ruled that the fees apply only to non-credit courses," said Dr. Epler. This would apply to persons over 21 taking less than 10 class hours per week.

Bagley's bill would make it legal for junior colleges to charge fees for all adult courses.

Ross Studies Antique Shop

The Ross Town Council spent two hours last night discussing a variance sought by the Marin Art and Garden Center so the center can put its antique shop in a house on Laurel Grove Avenue.

No action was taken at the special meeting. A vote is expected at next Thursday's regular session.

The audience was composed of four center representatives. The center seeks a variance to make "community cultural" use of the former Nick L. Ivancovich home, now in a residential zone. Rezoning was sought earlier, but hearings were postponed until later this year.

To Discuss Projects

Mill Valley School District trustees will evaluate 1964-65 curriculum development projects and discuss proposals for 1965-66 projects at a meeting Monday at 8 p.m. at the district office.

Raise Asked For Chief Court Clerk

The chief clerk of Marin Municipal Court would get a raise from $1,050 to $1,166 per month under a bill introduced in the State Assembly yesterday.

The bill, by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, provides for a new salary schedule for the chief clerk and her entire staff, worked out by county officials and approved by the county board of supervisors.

The chief clerk's salary, which has ranged from $832 to $1,050, would range from $1,166 to $1,208 under the new bill.

The chief deputy clerk, now getting $580 to $726, would go up to a range of $753-$914.

The new schedule calls for five grades of pay for deputy clerks, ranging from a low of $380 to a high of $619. These represent a raise of about 10 per cent for most of the deputy clerks.

Appointive State Schools Head, Elected Board Studied

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Faced with one of the legislative session's knottiest problems, the Assembly Education Committee has decided to study a group of bills to make Superintendent of Public Instruction Max Rafferty's job appointive instead of elective.

The committee also indicated yesterday it may prepare a measure of its own after hearing an exchange between Rafferty and a representative of the 140,000-member California Teachers Association.

Rafferty said William Barton, lobbyist for the CTA, agreed that the superintendent should be appointed by the State Board of Education. But they disagreed about how to select the board, which is now chosen by the governor.

Rafferty supported proposals by Republican Assemblymen James Whetmore of Garden Grove and Gordon W. Duffy of Hanford providing that board members be elected.

He said he preferred the board to be elected.

"It is important that the voice of the people" be heard, he remarked.

Barton urged appointive board members and a superintendent as proposed by Democratic Assemblymen Charles B. Garrigus of Reedley and Mervyn Dymally of Los Angeles.

To permit an elected board, he warned, would be to start a "war of special interest groups."

Merle Mazza is president of Mount Tamalpais Parlor 64, Native Sons of the Golden West.

Larger Hospital Board Is Sought

Marin General Hospital District board of directors would be permitted to enlarge its membership to seven, under a bill introduced yesterday in the State Assembly.

The five members of the hospital board feel two additional members are needed to handle the increasing volume of committee work, attorney Harold F. Riede of the hospital district said.

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

Northgate Is Having Impact On Restaurants In Area

Northgate Shopping Center is already having an impact on several Marin County restaurants.

There are longer waits for tables on Friday and Saturday nights lately at Le Chalet Basque in Santa Venetia. Longer waits and more of the late dining crowd than there used to be. But the delay isn't objectionable, and it's the usual custom here to fill in the interlude with Raymond Coscarat's champagne cocktails. They make the time pass more quickly.

It's a good thing the Coscarats have already embarked on enlarging and remodeling. I can foresee the need for more space and better facilities this spring and summer when North San Pedro Road seems to pick up in traffic. Raymond will probably have to close the place for a week or so the Monday following Easter so the old can be tied in with the new.

LE CHALET'S lunch trade has picked up, too, since the Northgate grand opening last month, although this restaurant is probably two miles from the shopping center.

Closer in to Northgate, the new business openings have also been felt at Franchini's Chateau on the highway at Lucas Valley Road. Roy Franchini told me he had his heaviest March business last month, reflected in both lunches and dinners.

Wilshire Towers on the highway opposite the Civic Center has noticed the increase mostly at lunchtime and in its bar business.

Lin Fa Gardens naturally has experienced a big surge in business — it's right on the scene, in Northgate Unit 1. Lunches, dinners and in the Mai Tai Room cocktail lounge.

Brothers Two at Northgate Unit 2, where all the big stores are, appears to have enough work ahead to delay its opening for another week or two. When I checked here Wednesday, the place was being painted but none of the kitchen equipment had been installed.

Northgate plans call for a cocktail lounge facing on the west parking area between Brothers Two and Leeds Shoes, but that opening seems pretty far removed. Nothing has been finished in here and the space is now being used as a sort of workshop.

BRASIL '65, a young bossa nova quintet from Rio de Janeiro began a four-week engagement at the Trident in Sausalito last Tuesday. Made up of five instrumentalist-singers in their early 20s (quintets are all the rage these days), the group specializes in Brazilian folk and popular music along with American jazz.

Rosinha de Valencia is featured solo guitarist; Wanda de Sah is the vocalist; rhythmic foundation is provided by Sergio Mendes on piano, Sebastiao Neto on bass and Chico Batera on drums. They perform nightly from 9:30, except on Mondays when the Denny Zeitlin Trio appears. Sunday afternoon sessions begin at 4.

HOW MUCH TO TIP? This is a question that can be answered several different ways, according to the service and type of establishment, your own natural inclinations and sex. Men are usually more generous with their gratuities than women.

But when the matter becomes the subject of a court decision, diners may assume that it has been more or less officially settled — or at least given the blessing of a legal opinion.

The National Automobile Club calls attention to a case in the United States Tax Court in which an estimate by the Internal Revenue Service that waiters in large New York hotels receive tips averaging 15 per cent of the diners' food checks was upheld by the presiding judge.

So there you have it — in New York anyway, and 15 per cent is rather generally accepted in these parts, too.

AT NERO'S ROOM in Ignacio, Pat Kelly is celebrating his third year this month with combo, playing for dancing in the atrium Friday and Saturday nights. He's drawing fans from Sonoma County, southern Marin and even from San Francisco. With him are Jack Barnes on the electric accordion and Bill Field who jumps from flute to sax or clarinet, according to whether the music is Latin, straight or Dixie.

AND SPEAKING of anniversaries, I seem to have missed a sixth last month for La Petite Auberge in San Rafael. All this time I was thinking the marking month was April. Six years at the same spot (although several times remodeled) and it was a hit almost from the start.

Accordionist Al Stone is away on vacation in Australia, and his job is being filled presently by another accordionist, Ken Gudnick.

ART EXHIBIT at Peacock Gap Country Club during the month of April is that of Bert Whitman of Stockton, award winning editorial cartoonist and painter. Whitman started his career in the early '30s as a Detroit newspaper cartoonist without formal art training. Since then his works have been shown in art museums on both coasts and in between.

GREENBRAE RESTAURATEUR Pietro Pinoni once turned down a chance to clean up when the American Medical Association convention was in San Francisco by deliberately closing down his restaurant at 535 Washington Street, saying: "I need a vacation more than I need doctors."

If you have ever seen him in action at his restaurant or at home you'll probably agree with that diagnosis. About the only time he isn't keeping busy at one place or the other is Sunday afternoon when he takes a nap.

But evidently he has made up for passing over the medicos by making time with the dentists. At least that profession was substantially represented at Pietro's last week when a large contingent of ladies from the Marin County Dental Auxiliary toured in for lunch.

Personally I think that if their husbands are using these side tactics as a lead-in, they won't get anywhere. There's nothing wrong with his teeth either!

HOW WEST END VILLA WILL LOOK

Remodeling going on at San Rafael's last remaining West End landmark restaurant will be completed in June when the 75-year-old establishment will be reopened as "Bill and Adolph's West End Villa." As redesigned by Edward Hageman and Associates, the restaurant will have a new facade of brick and canopy, corner entrance will be eliminated and a large, new dining room will be built at the "west end" of the building. Construction work is being done by Frank Hanrahan.

Permits Issued For Bay Houses

The Army Corps of Engineers has issued navigational permits to two men planning to build houses facing Richardson Bay on West Shore Road in Belvedere.

Permits went to Fred G. Dupuis of 615 Ridge Road, Tiburon, and Dr. H. Corwin Hinshaw of 8 Crest Road, Belvedere. Each plans to build a house. Dupuis will build a deck, while Hinshaw plans to include a floating dock.

No protest was lodged against either application.

Hamburger and CHAMPAGNE?

Well, not for everybody.

You have to be 21 and come over to Sam's in Tiburon to get it.

And, if you find fulfillment in the works of Edgar Guest, Paul Harvey, Daddy Warbucks, Jane Addams, Norman Rockwell, and Henry Doelger... you might prefer to stick with Sam's tried and true Burger & Beer.

But if a spark of the bon vivant burns in your soul, your taste will be abundantly rewarded with this bizarre combination.

Sam's Anchor Cafe has even bottled its own champagne for the occasion.

Incorrect Classroom Video Use Can Be Hindrance Trustees Told

Incorrect use of closed circuit television can actually be a hindrance to a teacher, the Marin Junior College District board was told last night, but television also offers a chance at some revolutionary gains in education.

Dean Roy Mikalson reported on College of Marin's first experimental use of closed circuit television in a biology class. He said much more study will be needed before the college can select the type of equipment needed.

But, he said, the college will be able to pipe classroom lectures from one campus to another, when the Novato campus is opened.

He suggested also that the college district could gain use of an ultra-high frequency television channel and offer adult education programs for persons in their own homes.

He noted the cost of videotape recorders is coming down sharply, and it may soon be possible for top teachers on one campus to prepare lectures and demonstrations to be used in junior colleges throughout the Bay Area.

Several short tapes could be made at the college's Bolinas marine biology station, Mikalson suggested, for use by other districts.

Carlton Cherry, chairman of the division of science, engineering and mathematics, said plans for the new science building include provisions for much use of closed circuit television.

Mikalson said a second experiment, with a paleontology class, will be made Monday from 10 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

He said using a camera as a magnifying device to display small items is helpful, but wobbly pictures and inadequate preparation by the cameraman can cause trouble.

Board members asked that studies continue. Trustee Elizabeth M. Deedy said she was especially pleased at the idea of regional planning in the use of such expensive equipment.

The board ordered drawing of final plans and call for bids on lease-purchase of a temporary building for the college computer center. Part of the cost is to be borne by other school districts which will use the computer.

Chairman Robert E. Oliver asked for a complete report on all costs and on commitments by school districts before bids for the building are opened.

The Marin Junior College District Board Also:

1. Promoted Mikalson from acting dean to dean, increasing his salary from $1,034.25 a month to $1,131.37 a month.
2. Called for speed in preparation of a report on the district administrative organization.
3. Approved a list of summer adult classes, including three new non-credit courses, juvenile driver improvement, English for the foreign born and conversational Spanish, and two new credit courses, history of the Americas and computer programming.
4. Referred a leave of absence request by Ernest L. Caillat to the county counsel's office to learn if granting the leave would amount to automatic granting of tenure.
5. Approved hiring Mrs. Dorothy M. Ritchie as instructor of history and government to start in September.
6. Waived rental fee for the Boy Scout circus to be held on the college football field June 5.
7. Heard from athletic director Harry Pieper that high school junior varsity football games would no longer be played on the college football field.
8. Cancelled the April 15 board meeting.

LBJ Questions Bank Rules In Failures

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson says Senate hearings on the failure of several federally insured banks have raised questions in his mind about how efficient government regulations have been.

Even before the Senate investigations subcommittee began its inquiry he had questions about the banking system and the government's regulatory agencies, Johnson said at a news conference yesterday.

The matter came up when a reporter asked the President if testimony in the hearings had raised questions in his mind about the efficiency of Comptroller of the Currency James J. Saxon's office.

"Yes, they have raised a good many questions, not only of the banking system but regulatory functions of the various agencies of government," Johnson replied.

"I would not be surprised," he added, "if the executive and the legislative departments improve upon some of its regulatory functions."

At the moment, the committee is examining the failure of the First National Bank of Marlin, Tex.

Federal officials have told the committee that Bernard S. Garrett and Joseph B. Morris, two speculators who are Negroes, took control of the bank in July 1963, defied orders not to do business with the bank themselves and made off with a $189,000 profit in a deal that caused the bank to close a few months later.

Matthew D. Steiner, now a bartender in Salinas, Calif., testified that Garrett and Morris recruited him—he is white—to front for them for $25,000 a year. He said his only previous business management experience had been a $3,000 investment he and his wife made in an ice cream drive-in stand.

But Garrett testified that Steiner used statements of Garrett and Morris' net worth without permission to obtain a loan from the Continental Bank & Trust Co. to purchase the Marlin bank.

Morris, in testimony prepared for today's hearing, said he got into the banking and savings and loan business to help other Negroes get credit.

Probation Given In Trespass Case

Charlums Bonner, 46, Richmond man caught by sheriff's deputies Tuesday night in the lumber yard of Goodman Building Supply Co. in Alto, was placed on six months probation in Marin Municipal Court yesterday on his guilty plea to trespassing.

Judge Leonard A. Thomas also imposed a 10-day suspended jail term. Deputies said they spotted Bonner inside the fenced-in yard about 10 p.m. He claimed he was seeking shelter from the rain.

Two Innocent Pleas Entered In Animal Case

Pleas of innocent to two animal cruelty charges were entered yesterday in Marin Municipal Court by rancher J. A. Fagundes of San Anselmo and the cases were consolidated with two public nuisance cases. All are now scheduled for trial May 10.

The animal cruelty complaints allege inadequate feed and care for livestock on three Marin County ranches. The public nuisance complaints arose out of alleged failure to care for the animals despite filing of previous charges.

Fagundes told the court he has authorized a brother, Manuel Fagundes of Napa County, to sell all his livestock and is going out of the ranching business.

Peace Corps Tests Slated

Marin residents will have a chance to test their aptitudes for Peace Corps service at 9 a.m. on April 10 in Room 7 of the San Rafael Post Office Building.

"This Peace Corps Placement Test is not passed or failed," said Charles Caldwell, Peace Corps public information officer in Washington. "It simply indicates where your greatest potential lies."

The Peace Corps questionnaire must be filled out and taken to the examination unless previously submitted. Questionnaires are available at all post offices.

Applicants need not register for the test ahead of time, Caldwell announced.

Black Point Planned Community On Agenda

The Marin County Planning Commission Monday will consider a master plan and planned community zoning for the 710-acre Alameda Homes Corp. development in Black Point.

The commission convenes at 9 a.m. in the Civic Center. The planned community zone request is number 24 on an agenda of 34 items. The master plan hearing is item 25.

Also on Monday's agenda is continued hearing on the county master plan for recreation and open space. It is item number 21 on the agenda.

The commission will hold a hearing on the proposed open space zone for Bolinas Lagoon. It is now zoned for limited agricultural use. This hearing is item number 22.

The commission is slated to discuss the board of supervisors' request for a recommendation on a board of design for the county. This is item 30.

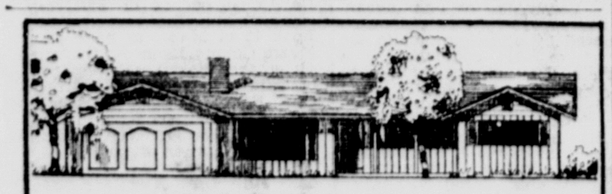

In a continued matter, the commission is to consider David R. Baty's request for a use permit to establish a cemetery and mausoleum on 95-acre parcel northwest of the intersection of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and Shoreline Highway at Olema. This is item 27.

Woman Treated After Wrist Cut

An estranged wife, mother of four children, was taken last night by San Rafael police to Napa State Hospital for psychiatric observation after she reportedly slashed her left wrist.

Police were summoned to the home of Mrs. Marie Jovita Dunkavy, 29, at 11 Mira Flores Avenue at 8:50 p.m. by a neighbor who said the woman's doctor had asked him to check on her welfare, and she found her bleeding profusely from a shallow wrist cut.

She was treated at Marin General Hospital, then transferred to Napa. The estranged husband lives in San Francisco, police said.

Zing into spring! Chevrolet Impala

Chevrolet Impala Super Sport Coupe—one of two bucket-seated beauties for '65.

People who buy other big expensive-looking cars get one thing you won't (big expensive-looking payments)

It looks like a big car. And is—by almost any standard you want to apply.

Width? Nobody builds a car as much as one inch wider. Length? It grew three inches this year. Roominess? Every closed model's got three inches more shoulder room, front and rear, and more leg and foot room up front too. Luxury? Nice little touches like the look of mellow walnut across the Impala's instrument panel. And big touches. Like the fineness of the same Body by Fisher workmanship that makes some of America's most expensive cars look so expensive. How about the ride? Chevrolet engineers took the Jet-smooth one and smoothed it out even more. Also made it more stable by widening the wheel stance. Custom features? You can personalize your Chevrolet all you want because there are nearly 200 custom features to choose from. Price? That's where Chevrolets fall way short of the other big expensive-looking cars. But we wouldn't have it any other way. Would you?

One last question: How soon can you make a good spring buy on a Chevrolet? One last answer: Just as soon as you can get down to your Chevrolet dealer's.

work proceeds on the building."

Berge said when there is a violation, an inspector "red-tags" it to notify the builder there is a violation. If the builder ignores the red tag, which is a stop-work notice, the case is referred for legal action.

Campbell urged that there be faster action when a builder ignores the red tag.

Berge and Campbell both have been keeping a close eye on two subdivisions: Bel Marin Keys, north of Hamilton Air Force Base, being developed by Jack H. West and Sons, and Pleasant Valley subdivision at Sutro Avenue and Center Road, west of Novato, being developed by Roberts and Aguirre Inc. of Santa Maria, Santa Barbara County.

Berge said he has stopped work at Pleasant Valley several times and demanded corrections. In one case of a poor foundation, the violation was discovered after a rainstorm, he said. "The form was poorly built and the ground was too wet."

Commenting on cracks in walls, floors and concrete driveways at Bel Marin Keys, Berge said they were the result of shrinkage and settlement, which "is not unusual."

As to tile that had fallen from kitchen counters, he said it resulted from a poor grade of tile or poor workmanship or both. "A kitchen cabinet had fallen because it had not been properly mounted," he said.

BROKEN TILE—Mrs. Maurie Sisco of 64 Montego Key, Bel Marin Keys, north of Hamilton Air Force Base, holds pieces of tile that fell from sink counter.

Carl S. Brown, secretary-manager of Associated Home Builders of San Francisco and Marin, said, "You can go through any house and find something wrong, but some people are getting away with things they shouldn't get away with."

Neither the developer of Pleasant Valley nor the developer of Bel Marin Keys is a member of the Associated Home Builders, Brown noted.

Reading Authority Rips 'Dick, Jane'

By ELLEN BRY

A crusader for teaching children to read by using good literature has spread her ideas among Marin teachers with evangelistic fervor this week.

Dr. Jeanette Veatch speaks witheringly of most of the traditional "Dick and Jane" books of the "see the ball, pretty ball" school, calling them "uncreative bilge."

"These stories teach a skill?" she asks and answers "nonsense."

"We are not using good literature . . . in the instructional reading program," Dr. Veatch told teachers. She urged them to make available books with ideas, and stories written "by writers, not by text book experts."

DR. JEANNETTE VEATCH
Would teach meaning

Dr. Veatch is billed as a "nationally recognized authority on individualizing reading instruction" by the Marin County Schools Office and eight Marin school districts which financed her more than 15 talks and discussions before some 700 teachers Tuesday through yesterday. She is a professor at Jersey City State Teachers College in New Jersey.

She urged teachers to begin children what words the chil- to teach reading by asking children what word they want to learn.

"Children have mastered a fantastic vocabulary by the time they are five. Teach according to the meanings that are deep in a child's gullet," she said.

"Your classroom must be the headquarters of learning. You must let the outside world come in. Sorrow comes in; anger comes in." and it can be expressed in a child's writing.

"Children's language is usually beautiful if it has emotional content."

Reading and writing are closely tied and she suggests teachers have a special corner where a child can write "only if he has an idea which is worthwhile writing about."

Children should be able to choose the book they want to read—a book which will offer a few unlearned words each each page to balance the challenge of new words and the pleasure of a story line or information, Dr. Veatch said.

Instructional books should not be limited to the text books which are supposed to teach reading—but which, in her opinion, do not.

Her approach to teaching reading is primarily a silent reading program in which a youngster would be free to ask the child next to him for aid in figuring out an unknown word.

Such a program, and related phonics teaching, would "provide a richness of exploration through literature," the New Jersey educator declared.

Nicasio Creek Tests Awaited

County sanitation officials were waiting today for the results of tests to determine whether the water in wells near Nicasio Creek is safe to drink.

The tests were made yesterday as health officers continued their ban on drinking water, begun last week after someone dumped chemicals in the creek.

New Swimming Pool Plan Is Ordered

Tiburon Peninsula Club directors last night ordered the club architect to complete plans for a new swimming pool, four more tennis courts, enlarged parking and a new entrance to the club, after learning that negotiations for adding land to the club's property have been completed.

The rest of the evening's business concerned preparations for the club's spring opening in mid-April, according to J. Donald McCune, president.

State College Tuition Seen By Lobbyist

Lobbyist John N. Given told about 75 teachers and administrators at the College of Marin yesterday that the day is coming when tuition will be charged at California state colleges.

The lobbyist for the California Junior College Assn. said he did not expect a bill requiring tuition to cover costs in the university of California and state colleges to pass this year, however.

He said the bill, by Sen. Randolph Collier, was being opposed by his organization because it would automatically divert many students to already overcrowded junior colleges.

Given said the association was trying to have shelved for two-year study a bill to set up a state board to control junior colleges. He called it a threat to local control of community colleges.

He saw little chance for passage this session of a bill to exempt junior college teachers from the requirement that they have state teaching credentials. Teachers at the state university and state colleges are exempt already.

Cancer Society Aide Is Chosen

Bryan L. Youngclaus of 10 Court Lane, Fairfax, has been named Fairfax area chairman of the American Cancer Society's April crusade.

Youngclaus reported yesterday that he is seeking volunteer workers in the Fairfax area to solicit contributions from their neighbors.

Solicitors wouldn't have to cover a large area, just a small area in their neighborhoods, he said. The campaign dates are April 19 and 20, but volunteers could work between now and then, Youngclaus said.

Suburbia Held Mill Of Anxiety

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

The "good suburban life" is a breeder of mental breakdowns and family breakups, Marin County doctors and their wives were told last night.

Driving in commute traffic itself puts a tremendous strain on the nervous system, said Dr. Arthur Auerbach, associate professor of psychiatry at University of California Medical School and an author of the Short-Doyle Mental Health Act.

And the new tract to which the commuter drives is barren, with "not much social structure," and produces a "pattern of anxiety," Auerbach declared.

The talk was billed as on "Psyche, Soma and Sex in Suburbia," but the doctors heard nothing about sex as Auerbach ticked off the ills of suburban living in his address at the Marin Medical Society's monthly dinner meeting at the Meadow Club. He stuck to the psyche — and what results from the injuries done it by suburban living.

A slave to the clock, the commuter becomes an automaton whose relationship to his family takes on an unnatural pattern, said Auerbach, illustrating this with showing of a short film produced at University of Southern California.

Residents of the new tracts are all of about the same age, he noted. The mother and the children therefore find themselves without the steadying influence of older people.

"Everything revolves around the children—but higher delinquency results." As evidence, he read a list of reports of vandalism and told his audience: "This was not in Marin City or in the Fillmore District; it was in Greenbrae."

Suburban parents feel guilt because they do not give their children the time they should, said Dr. Auerbach. They try to compensate with gifts and permissiveness.

Denied the normal guidance of parents and grandparents, the youngster turns to older boys and girls in school for guidance —"and follows the lead of those in rebellion."

Auerbach said there were no figures on psychosomatic illness in Marin, but it probably would follow closely a pattern found in Westchester County, N.Y., the only county in the United States with higher per capita earnings than Marin. There, the welfare department made a study which showed that 75 per cent of the welfare cases were emotionally unstable, 69 per cent reported marital discord, and 27 per cent had children born out of wedlock.

There is hope, though, said Auerbach: "As the suburbs become more urban, it is not so bad."

Dr. Robert L. Mills, reporting on the California Medical Assn. convention which ended Wednesday, said the CMA "realized as does nearly everyone else that it will take a miracle to keep the Medicare bill from passing within the next few months." But, he reported, "the Medicare they're talking about now is an entirely different program than they were talking about a few weeks ago."

Suspect Held For Threat To LBJ Life

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)— A North Carolina used car dealer was arrested in a highway tavern near here today after he allegedly threatened to kill President Lyndon B. Johnson.

Lt. Jules Mezzeras of the suburban Falls Twp. police identified the man held as Gareth R. Bridges, 37, Forrest City, N.C., a buyer of used cars for transport and sale in the South.

Mezzeras said Bridges was in the Highway Hut on Route 1 where he allegedly made repeated threats that he would "get a 30-caliber rifle and shoot the President."

Alarmed patrons in the tavern called the FBI, and Secret Service agents were alerted. They in turn called the Falls Twp. police and Mezzeras arrested Bridges.

Bridges was held at the township police station pending arraigment before a U.S. commissioner here on charges of threatening the life of the President.

Police said Bridges "had been drinking, but was not drunk."

Building Inspector Starts In Novato

Henry E. Anderson of Livermore yesterday started work as Novato's third building inspector.

His starting salary is $644 per month, said Charles Foster, city director of finance.

Anderson has been temporary building inspector for Mill Valley. He worked as construction superintendent for two companies for two years. Prior to that he was building inspector for the city of Livermore for three years.

He and his wife and two children plan to move to Novato after the end of the school year.

African chiefs are not absolute monarchs. They must act in conformity with the rigid customs of their tribes.

Chartered Bus Taking Marinites To Fill Hearing

Dr. William F. Upton, member of the county planning commission, has made arrangements to charter a bus to Sacramento next Wednesday to allow persons to attend hearings on State Sen. Eugene J. McAteer's bill to control filling in San Francisco Bay.

The bus is scheduled to leave San Rafael at 7:45 a.m., arriving in Sacramento before the hearing starts at 9:30 a.m. Passengers will return to San Rafael by 3 p.m., Upton said.

Persons interested in making the trip may notify Dr. Upton at his home, 50 Beach Drive, San Rafael.

U.S. Pulls Planes From Spanish Bases

MADRID, Spain (AP) — The U. S. Air Force pulled the nuclear sting from Spanish bases today and sent most of the bombers winging homeward after eight years of constant alert in Spain.

Without fanfare or ceremony, B47 nuclear bombers departed from nearby Torrejon base and from the Moron base near Sevilla as part of the Defense Department's changing emphasis from manned bombers to missiles.

Bids Announced For Patrol Cars

Doug Dicker Chrysler-Plymouth of San Rafael was apparent low bidder on six sheriff patrol cars yesterday with a bid of $2,214.10 per car.

Four bids were received by John F. Hettrich, Marin County purchasing agent. Other bids were James L. Walker of Mill Valley, $2,267.44; Shamrock Motors of San Rafael, $2,214.93 and Van Ness Dodge of San Francisco, $2,299.93.

Hettrich said the quoted prices do not include tax. The board of supervisors is to act on the bids Tuesday.

Denmark Teacher Security Great

In Denmark, teachers have a strong union and job security even greater than in California.

They teach classes 32 hours per week, although school meets every day but Sunday.

Their pupils are noisy on the playground and in going from class to class, but quiet and attentive during class.

These were among observations of Virgil S. Hollis, Marin County superintendent of schools, on a visit to the Gladsaxe Konmunes Skolebaesen, Marielyst Skole in Copenhagen.

Hollis and Supt. Milton S. Cohen of Larkspur School District are among 36 United States educators visiting European schools en route to Russia. He reported his findings in Denmark in a letter to the Independent-Journal.

Headmasters of Danish schools are appointed by the king, but assigned to their schools by the minister of education, who is in turn selected by elected commissioners, Hollis reported.

Teachers start at a salary of about $250 per month. This doubles by the time they reach retirement age of 67, and they retire at two-thirds their final pay.

Preparation for teaching in secondary schools requires much longer time than for elementary schools and the pay is not much better, so there is a scarcity of secondary school teachers, Hollis related.

The kindergarten is not included in Denmark's public schools. Children start school at the age of seven. They are given tests on starting and assigned to one of two "tracks," which lead to technical training or academic preparation. In the elementary schools, however, all take about the same subjects, though at different speeds.

"Once a teacher is hired, he cannot be fired unless he is convicted of some serious crime," reported Hollis. "There is only one teachers' union, and it is for both teachers and administrators. The dues are approximately $23 per year, and out of all the teachers in Denmark there are only about four or five who do not belong to the union, although it is voluntary."

Danish schools offer remedial work but have not attempted to extend their field by having special teachers or guidance workers to deal with the children's emotional problems.

A child may be passed to the next grade if he is deficient in some subjects; however, he is then limited in vocational opportunities because these are dependent on examinations, Hollis noted. If a child fails in examination, and he or his parents wish to continue his education, he must repeat the examination until he passes.

Danish teachers, Hollis reported, are paid overtime after their 32 hours for playground duty, library checking, extra teaching or other work.

Sewer Line Job Delayed In Tiburon

Award of a contract to relocate a sewer line under Tiburon Boulevard from the Tiburon Hill apartments has been postponed 30 days, while Richardson Bay Sanitary District officers check with the state for a timetable on the road's reconstruction.

Commissioners opened two bids for the sewer work last night, but delayed naming a contractor until their April 20 meeting. E. A. Forde Co. of Corte Madera bid $7,777 and J and K Construction Co. asked $12,000.

Commissioner Samuel A. Fletcher proposed that "to protect the people" not already served by garbage collection through City of Tiburon or Strawberry Recreation District franchises, the sanitary district should study a franchise proposal submitted by Mill Valley Garbage Co.

Action on the district's proposed shop building was postponed to allow commissioners to meet with Tiburon's architectural control committee.

Architect Hired For Fire Station

Tiburon Fire Protection District commissioners last night hired Belvedere architect Allan Steinau to design the district's proposed second fire station—but told him to delay beginning work.

The commission wants to wait until budget time in June to timetable construction of the building, which Steinau estimated will cost $22,000.

Commissioners also approved permanent appointment of fireman John Grbac, who has completed a year's probation, and gave him a raise to $530 a month.

Novato High Dances Get Tough New Rules

There'll be no more drag dances and no more kissing at Novato High School dances, Vice Principal Joseph Gargiulo declared today.

Furthermore, if a dancer leaves the gym he cannot return.

The new rules were adopted by the student body executive council after one member reported conduct at student dances had reached a point where "we had to make a set of conduct rules or face investigation."

Gargiulo said "it was not quite that bad, but we are glad the students decided to discipline themselves."

The "slow drag" at Novato High had become a dance in which boy and girl embraced and swayed to the music in one spot—often kissing the while, according to the student executive council.

Effective with a student body dance tonight, there'll be no more of it.

This will probably mean more of the jerk, the monkey and other variations of the twist—exhausting, but almost utterly without physical contact.

Lights have been installed to light up dark corners which invited "an over-show of affection," Gargiulo said.

Arctic floes make an eerie, cracking sound. As they grind together in the grip of wind and current, the ice builds into a pressure ridge. Huge blocks rear 40 to 50 feet into the air. Minutes later, this structure, seemingly tough as steel, may snap and crumble onto the ice below with devastating force.

Hamilton Wing Wins Safety Award

The 349th or Golden Gate Troop Carrier Wing, with headquarters at Hamilton Air Force Base, has won the Flying Safety Award of the United States Air Force.

This is the fourth time this wing has won the award since 1958, said Brig. Gen. Rollin B. Moore Jr., wing commander.

The 1964 award was given for the wing flying approximately 21,000 hours without an aircraft accident. This brought the total to 99,696 hours of flying time without an accident, General Moore said.

In the period for which the award was given, the men airlifted 1,600,00 pounds of cargo and nearly 10,000 passengers. This included the haylift to cattle in Montana and the Christmas week floods in northern California, Washington, Oregon and Idaho.

Now Is Time To Take Interest In Election

Actions speak louder than words.

This reminder is especially timely and fitting at this time, as San Rafael voters prepare for city and school elections.

You can rant and rave eloquently in the pre-election campaigns, but action at the polls is what really counts.

The Christian Family Movement at St. Isabella's Church in Terra Linda has launched a "door knocking" campaign to get out the vote as one of its public service programs.

Some of the facts and figures compiled by the group are a sad commentary on voter apathy in the San Rafael area.

Three different segments of the electorate are involved in the San Rafael election of April 12.

1. In San Rafael, 14,500 voters will have a chance to vote for city offices and the San Rafael Board of Education. The church group found that the normal voter turnout is 40 to 45 per cent.

2. About 3,600 registered voters in the Dixie School District will vote for San Rafael city offices and the San Rafael Board of Education. The turnout usually runs only about 20 to 25 per cent. (Dixie voters will also vote for Dixie School Board members on April 20.)

3. About 4,000 voters in the Dixie District but outside the city limits (for example the Terra Linda Community Services District) will vote for the San Rafael Board of Education. The turnout here is usually a measly 12 to 15 per cent.

Some of the residents of Dixie School District are arguing against the proposed unification with San Rafael School District. One argument is that their "voice" would be lost in a unified school district because of the heavier voter registration in San Rafael proper.

Dixie voters even now have a voice in electing the San Rafael Board of Education. If the dismal voter turnout continues, their "voice" will indeed be lost, regardless of voter registration.

A small minority of the voters would be running the whole show.

Now is the time for all voters to study up on the issues and the candidates and to speak up with an effective voice on April 12 and 20.

MARIN POLITICAL VIEWS

It's Time Again For Musical Chairs On County Judgeships

By WAT TAKESHITA

TAKESHITA

ONCE AGAIN it's time for musical chairs on the Marin judicial bench.

With the retirement of Judge N. Charles Brusatori in June, a post will open up in Marin Superior Court.

There is an outside chance that an "outsider" might be appointed directly to the superior court bench.

But it's more likely that the governor will take the usual route of elevating someone from municipal court.

On the basis of seniority, next in line for promotion is Municipal Judge Leonard A. Thomas. Then comes Judge Joseph G. Wilson. Both are Democrats.

Another name that has been mentioned as a "possible" for the superior court judgeship is Wallace S. Myers, a veteran attorney from San Anselmo.

If a municipal judge is elevated, then there's going to be a scramble for the opening created in municipal court.

PROMINENTLY mentioned for the post is Hadden W. Roth, who has been quite active in Democratic politics in recent years. He's young, personable, and ought to be among the top contenders.

Alvin Goldstein, another dedicated party worker (he was county chairman for President Johnson last year), was mentioned the last time around. But thus far, he does not appear to be actively seeking the post.

San Rafael attorney Thomas P. Boyd is another contender.

Others who have been mentioned as possibles include Roger Garety, John G. Buresh, Lee V. Holman, Arthur Lebow and Harold Truett.

THERE WAS quite a bit of behind-the-scenes tug of war involved in the choice of the public relations firm which would handle the June bond election for the new Hall of Justice.

Some Marin County firms were a bit miffed because the firm that got it has offices in San Francisco, although the man in charge lives in Marin.

THE SAN RAFAEL City Council race is causing quite a bit of excitement.

A Bay Area trade publication kicked up considerable stir when it had Joe Filippo running for mayor and Paul Bettini for councilman. Actually, it's the other way around—Bettini is running for mayor against Dr. Charles Aby, and Filippo is seeking one of the two posts now held by Louis H. Baar and Harry Barbier.

ANN ALANSON of San Francisco, who just succeeded Libby Gatov as Democratic national committeewoman, made quite a splash in Washington during her flying trip there last week.

She got her picture in the Washington papers, with a press interview in which she painted an optimistic picture of Democratic solidarity in California.

ELECTRONIC VOTE counting may be the coming thing in California elections.

Sperry Rand's UNIVAC division and the Coleman Engineering Co. of Los Angeles just signed an agreement which gives UNIVAC exclusive marketing rights to the Coleman Automatic Electronic Vote Tally System.

They claim a single UNIVAC computer linked to 20 Coleman machines can count ballots at the rate of 200 a second.

Harris Votomatic, developed in Berkeley, is another one that got some test use in California last year.

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

New subdivisions which reduced agricultural land meant a $1,321,784 cutback in Marin farm production last year, according to a report by County Agricultural Commissioner Thomas Peryam.

A bill approving a six million dollar loan for financing the second deck of the Richmon-San Rafael Bridge passed the California Senate.

Corte Madera Town Council announced plans to annex 100 acres east of the Northwestern Pacific Railroad and south of Paradise Drive.

20 YEARS AGO

A bill by Sen. Thomas F. Keating of San Rafael would provide for State Park Commission takeover of the 8½-mile Mount Tamalpais Ridgecrest road. In 1943, Gov. Earl Warren had vetoed a similar measure.

San Rafael Chamber of Commerce directors passed a resolution asking that county supervisors place questions of Golden Gate Bridge ownership before an attorney. Information was sought as to whether the state could take over the bridge and highway district.

College Speakers Expense Questioned

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Fewer than 200 people recently were treated to a $600 talk at the College of Marin by Washington Columnist Stewart Alsop courtesy of the taxpayers and the Trustees of the College.

I do not quarrel with the need for spiritual, cultural and intellectual enrichment in Marin, but if the Trustees are to spend this kind of money, they should make every effort to secure speakers and publicize the events sufficiently to attract an audience which will justify the expense.

Dixie Unification Editorial Lauded

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Your editorial (March 9) favoring unification of the San Rafael and Dixie school districts is most commendable.

Recognition that more efficient school districts are essential in this increasingly complex society is a forward-looking stance. More such attempts to cope realistically with such complexities are needed in Marin County. The Independent-Journal is in a position to take this kind of leadership.

View Of Marin For San Francisco?

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I fail to understand the objections of certain groups of San Franciscans to Marincello. What a pitiful shame it would be for their expensive view to be ruined by the crass sight of buildings in the Marin hills. I fail to recall a single incident where San Francisco showed any concern as to the view from the Marin shores.

So let them stay home and tend to their own skyline!

Frankly, I love the view of San Francisco from Marin—especially on clear nights—and have been known to wax downright lyrical on the subject when properly mellowed. The view from the Alta Mira, Sam's or our own Sausalito Cruising Club is ofen stimulus enough without the added fillip of the preprandial cocktails.

Lagunitas Trustee Lambastes Utility

Editor, Independent-Journal:

For approximately 14 years this community has been attempting to obtain gas service from the Pacific Gas and Electric monopoly. A great deal of time and effort has been given by local residents to making survey after survey in response to requirements outlined by PG&E.

Last Spring the most recent survey was made. It clearly indicated a customer potential in excess of PG&E minimum requirements. However, as usual, PG&E on March 2, announced that a new high school would have to be built before they would provide service.

This seems to be their usual technique. Every time their requirements are fulfilled, they come up with a new gimmick to guarantee no gas service to this area.

This community is pretty well disgusted with the shabby treatment handed it by PG&E, so much so that the Board of Supervisors r equested PG&E to provide service to this area, and the Lagunitas School Board took the unusual action of adopting an unanimous resolution to file a formal complaint with the Public Utilities Commission. . . . It is a shame that this Valley is denied gas service because of the selfish and short-sighted policies of this monopoly. . . .

Voters Rights Asked For Texas Military

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I am heartily in accord with the administrations current civil rights voting measure now before the Congress. . . . No American citizen who is deemed eligible to pay taxes and contribute to the general welfare should be denied the right to vote.

I am extremely interested in seeing if it contains provisions which will force the great state of Texas—Mr. Johnson's home state—to extend the franchise to members of the military services, which is presently, as for many years, denied them.

This is the one state in the Union which refuses the vote to three groups — inmates of mental institutions; inmates of penal institutions, convicted of felony AND wearers of the Uniform of the United States, serving in the Armed Forces of our country. It pretty well classifies our service people and how they stand in that great state.

I have written Mr. Kuchel, Mr. Murphy and Mr. Clausen, requesting that they stand firm for definite inclusion of this important point. I would appreciate it if other Marin County voters would do likewise.

Candidates Work For Unification

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Your story in the I-J the other day listing names in the Pro-Unification speakers' bureau was most interesting.

Unification, if it passes, will do away with local school boards. For example, it will substitute one seven-man at-large trustee group for the 58 locally-elected school board members in the Tam-Drake-Redwood areas.

Three of the listed Pro-Unification speakers are also candidates for the Mill Valley School Board, in the same election—two being presently members of that board, running as incumbents.

These people are campaigning for an office on the one hand, and campaigning to abolish that same office, on the other. This certainly must set some new record for lack of good faith and integrity.

You wouldn't—you couldn't—hire, or continue to employ, personnel who were unabashedly dedicated to closing up your business. I am thunderstruck at the audacity of these people, and at the low opinion they obviously have of the intelligence of the Mill Valley voter.

BENNETT CERF

THE FOREMAN on a building project tapped a new laborer on the shoulder and suggested, "Why don't you push that wheelbarrow instead of pulling it?" "Because," explained the laborer with feeling, "I can't stand the sight of it."

IN A CROWDED bus the voice of a very young lad rang out loud and clear. "Mommy," he wanted to know, "is our new cat a boy cat or a girl cat?"

"He's a boy cat," answered the mother.

"How do you know?" continued the lad. Other passengers leaned forward to hear how mommy would handle that one. She was equal to the occasion. She pointed out calmly, "He has whiskers, hasn't he?"

ROSCOE DRUMMOND

There Is Valid Basis For Putting Klan Outside Pale Of The Law

WASHINGTON — Most Americans are dismayed, sad, angry over the acts of murder, bombing and mob violence in Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana.

It won't work. It cannot be tolerated.

BUT CAN Congress devise a wise law to "bring the activities of the Ku Klux Klan under effective control," as President Lyndon B. Johnson asks? Should Congress outlaw the Klan? Can the government suppress the illegal, terroristic activities of the Klan without suppressing the Klan itself?

The Civil Liberties Union recently greeted with horror the proposal that Congress should investigate the Klan. No Klan-lover, it was not trying to shield the Ku Klux Klan. It was trying to shield the Bill of Rights, particularly freedom of speech and free assembly.

If there can be concern over just investigating the Klan, there will be double concern over "controlling its activities."

THE ISSUE ought to be met head on. I believe there is a valid basis for putting the Klan, as presently organized, outside the pale of the law.

If the Klan only used advocacy as the means of achieving its goals, it should be free to do so.

But does it? The Klan does not merely advocate the opinion that Negro citizens ought not to be allowed to vote. It advocates violation of the law guaranteeing the right to vote.

THE KLAN does not advocate changing the Constitution so that Negro citizens cannot vote. It promotes violation of the Constitution to keep Negro citizens from voting.

The Klan does not advocate violent overthrow of the government, but it does advocate nullification of the Constitution. Its avowed purpose is to subvert the Constitution not by words alone but by terror.

The Klan may not openly advocate murder but it condones murder and Klansmen practice murder, tyranny and mob violence—six murders of civil rights workers in Alabama and Mississippi in the last few weeks.

The imperial grand wizard of the United Klans of America, Robert M. Shelton Jr., said of the murder of Mrs. Viola Gregg Liuzzo, who was driving civil rights marchers from Montgomery to Selma: "I certainly don't approve of violence, but if she had stayed home, she wouldn't have been caught in this position."

THE POSITION Mrs. Liuzzo was caught in was that of exercising her constitutional right to help others win their constitutional right to vote.

The head of the Klan says, in effect, that, while he does not "approve" of murder, the way to keep from being murdered is for Negro citizens and their supporters not to want to vote, not to try to vote, and not to help each other get the vote. Then there would be no murdering!

If yelling fire in a crowded theater exceeds the limits of free speech, then the Klan has exceeded it. The Klan isn't just yelling fire, it is setting the fire and then blaming the people for being in the theater.

IF THE KLAN wants only to use free speech to advocate that Negro citizens be denied the right to vote, let them. That's legal. But beyond that limit, it passes the pale of what is tolerable in a free society. It can't have the freedom to promote murder, terror and violence.

In this connection, a recent incident is worth pondering. A university professor from Pakistan, traveling in the South, was set upon because his skin was dark. Suddenly one of the attackers realized they were making a mistake. He yelled to his companion:

"Stop beating him; he's not an American."

U.S. Unspent Foreign Aid Funds Available

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON—The stupendous total of $11.027 billion is available for foreign aid spending in the current fiscal year ending June 30.

This breathtaking sum, consisting of unspent foreign aid appropriations voted by Congress in recent years, is equivalent to more than 10 per cent of the entire federal budget for this fiscal year.

The $11.027 billion does NOT include President Lyndon B. Johnson's $3.38 billion foreign aid program for the coming fiscal year.

HOW MUCH of the $11.027 billion will remain unspent by July 1 is unknown—even by the 22 federal agencies administering the vast and multifarious foreign aid operations. It will be well into fiscal 1966 before authoritative detailed information can be compiled.

But one fact already is certain: Billions of authorized foreign aid funds will be carried over into the new fiscal year.

That has happened in the past and will happen again. This is the unfailing record. Whatever new money Congress votes will only be the smaller part of what actually will be spent for foreign aid in the 12 months starting July 1.

ALREADY THAT total is estimated at $7.5 billion.

This is the considered opinion of Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., former ambassador to India and long-time staunch foreign aid supporter but lately sharply critical. His $7.5 billion estimate is based on the record going back a number of years.

Authority for disclosing the $11.027 billion in this fiscal year's foreign aid "pipeline" is Rep. Otto Passman, D-La., chairman of the House Appropriations Subcommittee in charge of this budget.

HIS METICULOUSLY detailed figures, laboriously assembled from official sources, have been laid before his committee in preparation for considering the president's new $3.38 billion program. A vigorous critic of large-scale foreign aid spending, Passman's aim is to slash that proposal to $2.25 billion.

In submitting his statistics, Passman charged flatly that the gigantic foreign aid program has become unmanageable. As proof, he stressed the following three points:

1. Twenty-two federal agencies and 71,416 government employees are engaged in "disbursing some type of foreign aid to 99 countries and nine territories."

2. This vast program "in its present form is uncontrolled and apparently uncontrollable. It has reached such proportions that even the confusers are confusing themselves. No program in the history of mankind has had as many paid lobbyists. It would take many, many pages, if not a book, to list the names of all individuals who are lobbying for or are recipients of this program."

3. Foreign aid "has been the primary reason for our serious 'gold outflow' to foreign countries. On Dec. 31, 1963, our gold stockpile had dwindled to $15,596 billion, a drop of $7.261 billion in six years. During this same period, 57 countries received $12.436 billion in U. S. military or economic aid. And during this same period, these nations 'purchased' $6.977 billion of our gold."

This Is What It Feels Like To Become Playboy Of Month

WASHINGTON—I was interviewed in Playboy this month and it's amazing how many people read it. You think Playboy only appeals to college boys and traveling salesmen, but it's just not so.

The day after the article appeared, I came home and my wife was waiting. "Your interview is in Playboy."

"Who told you?" I asked.

"Joan Conway."

"What's she doing reading Playboy?"

"THAT'S NOT the point. Joel had the magazine and he was showing it to all his friends at school when the teacher caught him. It was bad enough to have the magazine, but when he said the reason he had it was because his father was in it, the teacher didn't know what to do."

"It's not my fault," I protested.

The phone rang and my wife answered it. "Yes, I know, Marion. Joan called me about it. No, I didn't see the other pictures. Thanks for calling."

"Marion Dalinsky saw it, too," she said.

THE PHONE rang again. "Hello, Mary. I can't talk now. He's home. I don't know what I'm going to do about it. I'll call you later."

"Mary Lindsay has a copy," she said.

"Boy, Playboy has an interesting readership," I muttered.

My son came running in. "Vicki won't give me back my Playboy," he cried.

VICKI IS OUR cook. She came in a moment later. "My goodness, Mr. Buchwald, my friends are really shocked. They never thought I'd work for anyone whose picture would appear in Playboy."

"What's wrong with the picture? I've got all my clothes on."

"But nobody else has," Vicki replied.

The phone rang again. It was Polly Kraft, who happened to pick up the magazine in the drugstore, etc.

MY WIFE SAID she'd call her back.

"I don't see why everyone should be so shook up because I happened to be in Playboy."

"It's a cool magazine," my son said.

"There's your answer," my wife said. "How can I keep him in line when you're posing with a bunch of nude girls?"

"I WASN'T posing with nude girls. I was in the front of the book and they were in the back. My article doesn't touch the 'Playmate of the Month' even when you fold it way out."

"You probably were there when they took the pictures of the 'Playmate'."

"I wasn't anywhere near when they took that picture."

THIS TIME when the phone rang I answered it. It was my mother-in-law. When she heard my voice, she shouted, "Lecher!"

"I'm not a lecher!" I shouted back.

"Sex fiend!"

"Mom, will you calm down and say what's on your mind?"

"Tell my daughter I have room for her and the children."

"That's nice," I said.

"THE TOWN'S in a state of shock," she cried. "You can't get a copy of the magazine anywhere. I bought the last five copies they had."

"I'll send the family in the morning."

"What are you going to do?" she demanded.

"I'm moving in with five bunnies. Playboy takes care of its own."

Mayor Of Muir Beach Likes To Fish And Keep A Few Cows

The other day we visited the mayor of Muir Beach.

He had just cleaned a fish and was sitting on the hillside looking over the sea and his crop of peas, carrots, garlic, onions and favas (horse beans).

"The soil is not very good," he complained. But the crops looked great and there were pods on the peas in March.

The mayor is Joe Rodrigues, a robust man with reddish face, blue denim jacket and black tennis shoes.

HOW DID YOU get to be mayor? we asked. "I elected myself," said Joe, puffing at his cigar. Asked his duties, he said, "I'm in charge of the road. When something goes wrong, the mayor asks for help and everybody is anxious to help. We fix our own road."

Other duties? "Fishing," he said. Joe, who goes fishing two or three times a week, said he had been fishing that morning, caught a seven-pound ling cod, broke his pole, had to come home.

"There is an old saying that Portuguese cannot be without cows. They have to smell the cow sweat," he said. He added he has a few white faces, about 30 chickens and three horses he takes care of for his daughter and grandchildren.

"MY DAUGHTER, Rose Anne, has ridden since she was 6. But this new pony, Tony, bucked her off the other day. It is the first time in her life and it had to be a little pony."

Born in the Azores, Joe came to Marin at 18, and is now 67. He first got a job milking cows at Tennessee Cove. He has lived 20 years at Muir Beach.

Rodrigues said he makes his own wine, likes to swim and dance and says Muir is the safest beach in the world. He carries water from Sausalito for coffee and says "as long as we have bad water, nobody will move to Muir Beach."

ON HIS BARN he has a large red wooden "R" sign, which a neighbor, Alfreda Lindholdt, found on the beach. Another neighbor, Judy McMillan, asked him "because I am mayor and because I know about farming to go with her to get her a pig. . . . The poor pig," said the mayor, "when she got it home, it ran away the next day."

Joe showed us five half-barrels of strawberries and how he shuts his chickens up at night with a trap gate so raccoons and weasels won't eat them. On leaving, he gave us a few golden onions and sprigs of garlic, and said, "Come back again."

AN EXAMPLE of that old Marin fight took place in Sacramento recently. Ellen Binckley telephoned to say that 19 pro and three anti-unification delegates from Marin waited in Sacramento the other day to discuss the Bill Bagley bill, A. B. 771. The bill had been delayed two weeks and at 5 p.m. the committee was ready to hear it, and Bagley said he had to go to meet a dozen people. The 19 steamed up to see the assemblyman in his office, said Mrs. Binckley, but the door was locked. "We were fighting on the beaches, fighting in the halls," she said.

At Tamalpais High on Gentle Thursday, we learn, a few of the students celebrated with a water balloon fight.

It's spring and time for flight and Harriet Wilton's pet cockateel, Danny, flew off March 20 and has not returned. He is a male, 10 years old, very tame, a great talker and whistler and, according to Harriet, if he lands on your wild bird feeder, please advise.

MACK STALEY says his strudel maker left him, having gone onto higher realms of specializing solely in cheesecake making. "I like to cater," said Mack, "and I find I like to make strudel. Now I'm trying to make cherry strudel."

We sat next to Elliott Hardy and Ronnie Small of Marin City at the Marin police athletic dinner at Sausalito's Alta Mira the other night. Elliott is a great pitcher but when it comes to putting sour cream on his baked potato, he prefers butter.

COUNTY COMMENT

By WILLIAM D. (BILL) FUSSELMAN

Closing Shot At Administrator Still Finds New Ordinance Bad

FUSSELMAN

IN THIS COLUMN next Friday I will move on into other areas of concern. Those of you who have been reading "County Comment" will recall that I pointed to an identical story in two weekly papers which said that the administrator had emerged as the most powerful figure in county government and that one of his prerogatives was a $5,000 raise he had just received (making his salary $21,000 per year). I said then and I repeat, this is fraught with danger.

IN ORDER TO BRING the whole picture into the light of day, it has been necessary to relate in some detail matters pertaining to the administrator activity. There is nothing personal in my observations. I believe that the only way to inform citizens about their government at the local level is to discuss it frankly and not skirt around the edges.

HERE IS A RUNDOWN on my position respecting the admininstrator. While he was assistant administrator, his chief notified the board of supervisors that he was resigning to take a state position relating to auto exhaust fumes. Following my belief that when a vacancy occurs in a department the next in line should be given a chance, I immediately stated that Alan Bruce should be appointed to fill the vacancy.

IN 1961, while I was chairman, there was a move to dismiss him. I refused to be a part of this, as I didn't want to hurt a young man's record when he was just getting started in a career, but suggested that the office be abolished and that a position of special assistant to the board be established. A referendum resulted stopping this, with the alternative offered of submitting it to the electorate. An election was scheduled for June of 1962. However, a new member on the board as of Dec. 5, 1961, prevailed upon two other members to cancel that and re-establish the office.

LATER WHEN the administrator got himself in a bind respecting his dismissmal of one of his staff, which created considerable furor, I supported him, while those who had helped create the office did not. In 1962, there was a strong movement on the board, by previous supporters of his, to have him on the carpet, with a dismissal in view. I urged that this not be done, because we were moving out to the Civic Center, but to see how matters developed in the new location. This dissatisfaction continued on the part of the same element on the board, after we were at the Civic Center. Then several sad events occurred and the pressure subsided.

MY POSITION has been clearly expressed, with supporting evidence. This new ordinance is such a drastic departure from the general laws governing counties like ours, that the whole matter should be submitted to the voters so that they might express themselves. This, I believe, is particularly true in view of the fact that in 1958 60 per cent of those voting turned it down.

INCOME TAX FACTS

Some Tax Payers Don't Have To File

By PETER JAMES WIKEL, C.P.A.

Everybody must file a 1964 Federal Income Tax Return by April 15, 1965, unless:

Their self-employment income was less than $400, and:

1. They are under 65 years of age and their income was less than $600.

Peter J. Wikel

2. They are over 65 years of age and their income was less than $1,200.

3. They are a married couple, one under 65 years of age, and the other over 65 years of age, and their income is under $1,800.

4. They are a married couple, both over 65 years of age and their income is under $2,400.

It may be that they are not required to file an income tax return as above, but that they should file an income tax return to secure the refund of any income tax that may have been withheld from earnings less than the personal exemptions listed above.

Everyone who has self-employment income of $400 or more is required to file a Social Security Self-Employment Tax Return. That is Schedule C-3 of the Federal Income Tax Return, Form 1040.

Your social security self-employment tax is credited to your social security account and will be taken into account in computing the amount of social security you will receive on retirement.

What is self-employment income?

Self-employment income is the net profit, that is, the gross receipts minus the costs, of your business of $400 or more.

You may have more than one business. Then you add your self-employment income from all businesses.

You may be a partner in a business. Then you must include your share of the partnership income or loss in computing your net earnings for self-employment.

Wages (but not drawings) you receive from the partnership must be included, plus your share of the earnings or minus your share of the losses.

If you are a member of a corporation electing not to be taxed as a corporation, you must include your share of this corporate income in your self-employment tax. All individuals engaged in a trade, business or the pursuit of a profession in any capacity, other than employees, are subject to a self-employment tax, except doctors of medicine in private practice and officials elected or appointed are not subject.

Clergymen, Christian Science practitioners and members of religious orders are not subject, unless they choose to be covered. Once they have chosen to be covered, they are continuously covered.

If your wages subject to social security tax were in excess of $4,800 you are not subject to the self-employment tax.

If you have any questions, you should contact your tax adviser early to give him plenty of time to answer any questions you may have, or, purchase the book "Your Federal Income Tax — 1965 Edition" for 50 cents from the District Director of Internal Revenue, or from the U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D.C.

West Marin School Candidates Voice Views In Double-Header

It was a double-header candidates' night in West Marin last night with Tomales High School District hopefuls getting by far the longest innings.

A school curriculum study in the high school district last year and state testing of the junior class this year got the most attention as the four candidates for three seats on the high school board spoke and answered questions.

Three of the four candidates for three seats on the West Marin School District spoke only briefly. One West Marin candidate, Joseph Joyce of Point Reyes Station, could not attend because of illness.

Of the West Marin candidates, Mrs. Megan M. Mery of Inverness gave the briefest talk, saying simply that her children had all grown past the school age, but she had maintained her interest in education.

Next in brevity was George McCartney Johnston, Inverness Park real estate salesman, who said he was interested in education primarily because he was the father of three children. He said the school board has done a good job to date.

Incumbent Robert E. Gallagher, a Point Reyes Station dairyman, said he "thought we have a pretty good school here" and "there is no room in the world today for an uneducated child."

The opening statements of the Tomales High School District hopefuls were:

Incumbent Roy A. Parks, Tomales sheep rancher, said he wants good education under an administration that "takes into consideration proper use of money without any extensive waste."

He said the top group of students should meet standards which will qualify them for entry into University of California.

"The middle group should be qualified to make a living in this world" when they graduate. He said the school was in need of expanding its vocational training.

Parks said unification studies have taken up much of the school board's time. He said he has backed unification because "I see in it an opportunity to improve education."

Parks said the curriculum study last year helped to "pinpoint" the district's problems. "Now we're ready to step forward and make some worthwhile changes this fall. I want to continue this job," he said.

Gordon W. Pusser of Marshall, a real estate man, declared steps toward improvement should have been taken sooner. He argued that the recently announced California Achievement Test results for the junior class should have moved the school board to take action at once.

Pusser said the board must take a long-range view and think how the community will develop and how the school should develop to meet the changes.

He said the fact that assessment increases have brought an unallocated increase in revenue to the district is evidence that the board is not planning properly.

Although Pusser was critical of the school, he made it clear that he did not want to see the district forced out of existence by unification with some other district.

He lamented the fact that the district seemed "split" with a "good many of our best citizens fighting the school." He would work for community unity, he said.

He said test results showing that the junior class was only achieving at the sophomore level called for "drastic action" by the school board.

Mrs. Louise Passalaqua of Bodega Bay said the curriculum study recommended solutions which she would want to develop, including flexible scheduling, vocational guidance and a remedial program.

"Tomales has a unique advantage in being small," she said. "Classes are not over-crowded and a close relation between students and teachers is possible.

"Tomales could be as good or better than any high school in the state."

Mrs. Jean E. Adams of Inverness said she has seen improvement in the school in the two years she has lived in the district. She said she would like to upgrade the academic standing but one problem is the great variety of abilities found in each classroom.

She said there are advantages in a small school, including closer student-teacher relationship and the chance for each student to take responsibility in the high school community.

In the question period, Parks was asked what plans the board has in response to the achievement test. He said the superintendent is looking into hiring teachers for next fall with training in remedial teaching. He said this approach had been discussed almost two months before the test results were announced.

Pusser argued that waiting until next fall might be waiting too long.

Parks also said that the board has flexible scheduling under study. Mrs. Adams, who took a trip with the school board to examine a flexible scheduling school, reported the method has promise.

Pusser said programs such as flexible scheduling should be studied and proposed through the superintendent and that the school board should not become so involved in running the school. He suggested adding an assistant superintendent might help.

The meeting, attended by 41, including the candidates, was sponsored by the West Marin Parent-Teacher Assn. Charles Reilley, retiring West Marin trustee, was moderator.

Outgoing P-TA president Mrs. William M. Meloney and new president Mrs. Thomas T. Storer both spoke briefly.

Budget Session

Sausalito recreation commissioners will hold a preliminary budget meeting Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the home of chairman Willard A. Hall, 21 Vista Clara Road. The date, originally set for April 8, was moved up one day, according to commissioner James Muldoon.

Jobs Office Has New Specialist For Minorities

Robert Smith of Novato has been appointed minority specialist at the California State Employment office in San Rafael, manager Edwin W. Ayer announced.

Smith has worked as a placement specialist in trade and service occupations at the San Rafael office for the past four years. He replaces Marjorie Ward who has moved to a job as employment counselor in Marin County's work training office.

The minority specialist's job is to help employers integrate their work forces by locating and referring applicants for jobs from minority groups. He will also solicit jobs for minority group applicants when no openings are available for them.

Koufax Faces Arm Trouble All Year, Says Doc

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Ace Los Angeles Dodger pitcher Sandy Koufax has been stricken with what his doctor calls "a traumatic arthritic condition of the left elbow which tends to flare up under repeated stress."

Koufax, said Dr. Robert Kerlan, can expect that the condition "will be an off and on occurrence all year long."

The news comes as a blow to the Dodgers, whose pitching lineup had appeared superb until Koufax' elbow became stiff and swollen yesterday at the club's training camp in Florida.

He flew here and underwent X rays last night.

Dodger General Manager E.J. Bavasi said he knew last year that there was a possibility of a recurrence of the elbow injury. Koufax jammed it last August sliding into second base at St. Louis.

"It was the compelling reason that we dealt for (pitcher) Claude Osteen." he said. The reference was to a controversial trade in which the Dodgers parted with slugger Frank Howard, infielder Ken McMullen and pitcher Phil Ortega for Washington's Osteen and infielder John Kennedy.

Koufax probably will miss the Dodger season opener against the Mets in New York April 12. Sandy is expected to remain in Los Angeles at least four days taking treatments, before rejoining the team.

The 29-year-old strikeout king, regarded by many as the finest pitcher in baseball, was unable to straighten his left arm when he arrived here.

Koufax, baseball's most eligible bachelor, had been most impressive this spring. He had made five appearances in exhibitions and had a respectable earned run average of 3.00 in 30 innings.

He had pitched complete games against Detroit and the Chicago White Sox in his last two assignments. He yielded four hits and struck out five Detroit Tigers and four hits and fanned 10 against Chicago.

Club trainer Wayne Anderson said Koufax's arm appeared to be in the best shape it had been in the past two years.

This is the third time in the last four years that trouble has plagued the handsome southpaw.

A circulatoy trouble in the index finger of his pitching hand benched him in mid-July of 1962. He came back in mid-September but was ineffective and the Dodgers lost their bid to win the National League pennant.

Sandy came back in 1963 and won everything in sight, including 25 games, two straight as the Dodgers swept the New York Yankees in four games in the World Series and the coveted Cy Young Award.

He also led the league with a 1.88 ERA and struck out a record 306 batters.

Sandy was 19-5 when he was sidelined last season.

Koufax has pitched a no-hit game in each of the last three seasons and has struck out 10 or more batters in 61 different games, a major league record.

"I can't say that I'm surprised. I was afraid this might happen. But I'm not alarmed. I think Sandy will be all right," Bavasi said.

Franks Gives Indication He Knows How To Handle Hurlers

CONNOLLY

The question asked most often since our sojourn with the Giants is: "Can Manager Herman Franks handle pitchers?"

It is a good question but not easy to answer.

A prime requisite of any manager, next to getting along with his players, should be his ability to properly direct his pitching staff. If he can't do that he's calling for slow music.

It is pointed out by those fans propelling the above query that Franks has never had too much experience either selecting, nominating starters, or exercising his prerogative to remove them, when it seems necessary.

Jack Sanford recently pitched five airtight innings only to get bombarded in the sixth. In years past that would be par for the course with Sanford, who, because of an ailing arm caused by circulatory trouble, never seemed too effective after the halfway mark.

BUT MY reaction to Franks' handling of Sanford was that he was right. The Giant manager allowed Sanford to start the sixth inning simply to determine, in his own mind, how far Jack had advanced in training. He found out. On the other hand, if Sanford has been removed after five scoreless innings and a couple of hits, the cry would have gone up that "Sanford is ready," when, as a matter of fact, Jack isn't, and likely won't be, for another few weeks.

THE SAME reasoning that applies to Sanford is applicable to Juan Marichal, Bob Hendley, Bob Bolin, Ron Herbel, Gaylord Perry and others regarded as being likely starting pitchers.

No one will ever know how much or how little the new Giant manager knows about handling pitchers until the season gets under way Tactics employed in spring training differ greatly once the season opens. After the opening gong sounds the microscope definitely will be turned on the style in which Manager Franks handles his pitchers.

FOR ANY manager to be expert at removing tiring pitchers is a lot of luck. Maybe the fellow he picks to relieve a weakening pitcher develops to be worse and more of it. A smart catcher often tips his manager on whether the pitcher is losing his stuff. And most managers confer first with the catcher before they remove the pitcher.

From what I have seen of Franks as Giant manager, I'd have to say he is firm, patient and most understanding in regard to his pitchers. After all, the answer to a manager's prayer is not always contained in the number of pitchers he has but rather in the type. So until the test comes for the Giant skipper, and it won't be too long, the fans will have to at least give him a fair shuffle.

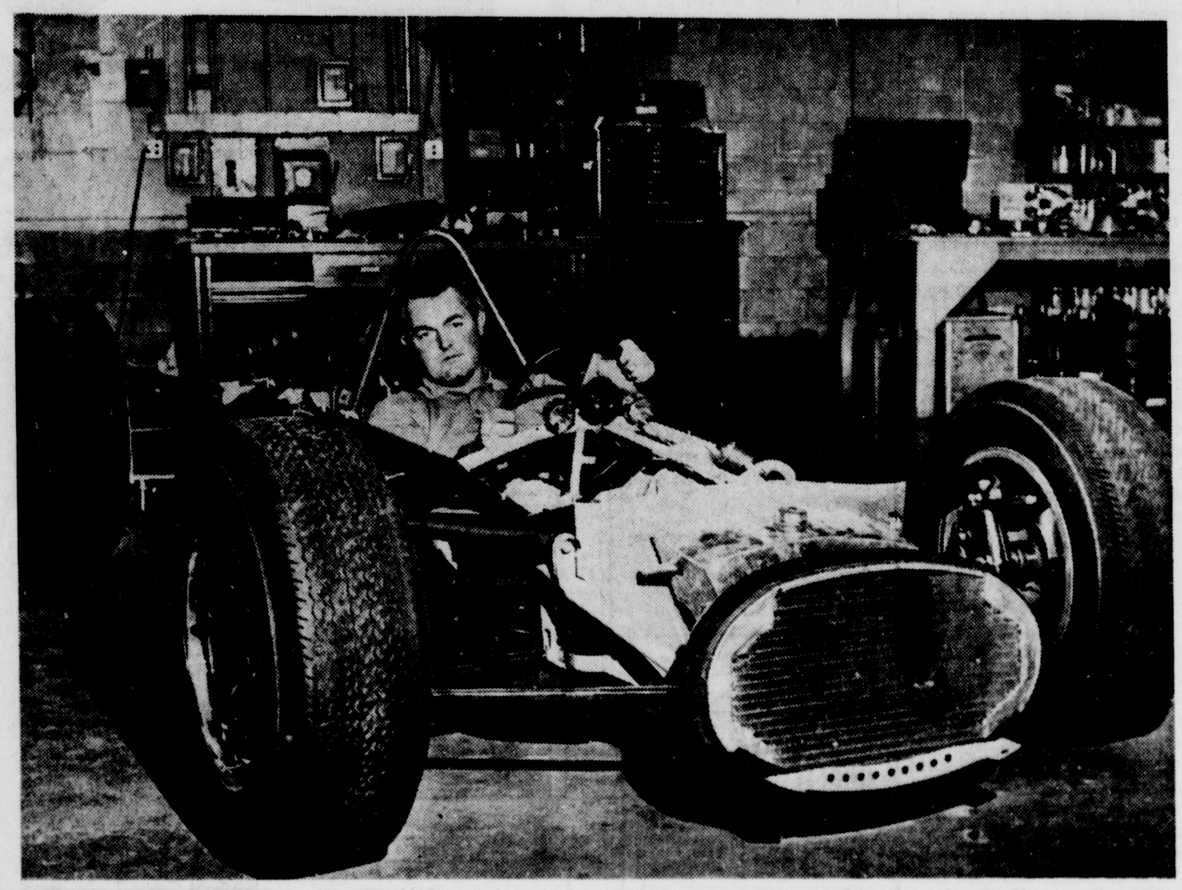

THE GIANT manager thinks he knows NOW enough about each member of his pitching staff.

"I'll know for sure," says Herman, "after the season gets under way.

"I've seen pitchers midway in a ball game have a bad inning and then, because they were allowed to stay in the game, come back with a great exhibition. And that is what I'm trying to find out NOW."

YOU GET a pretty fair idea of how much the Giant brass is worrying over pitchers by the fact that they are naming names of men they are willing to give up to get what they need in the way of pitching. Dangling Harvey Kuenn, Jim Duffalo, Chuck Hiller and Cap Peterson as bait to get the pitcher they want means the club isn't set YET. And who do you suppose is behind such thinking?

I'd say Herman Franks—he's willing to give up somebody for something he feels will help the ball club.

By RALPH CHATOIAN

Joe Huffaker, race car builder from Novato, has been literally burning the midnight oil to get three racers ready for the Indianapolis "500" on Memorial Day.

Designer and builder of the BMC Liquid Suspension Special, on innovation in race cars, Huffaker estimates he's about a month behind schedule. Because of this, he has been spending most of his waking hours in the shop, heading a crew of men working on his race cars.

His shop is now closer to home, occupying a huge building at 45 Duffy Place in San Rafael. He's head of the competition department for British Motor Car Distributors which moved from San Francisco to San Rafael last January. BMC, itself, is still in San Francisco, but the competition shop is in Marin.

Primary purpose of Joe's department is to service and build sports cars, but BMC president Kjell Qvale was overjoyed at the Huffaker-designed cars' showing at last year's Indy "500." After his two cars finished 12th and 19th, he decided to try again in '65. But this time there'll be three cars.

THE DRIVERS

Qvale and BMC are sponsoring two of the cars and the bill on the other is being picked up by Bardahl Co. Walt Hansgen from Bedminster, N.J., who finished 12th last year in one of Huffaker's cars, and Bob Veith of Fort Bragg, who took 19th place in the other car, will drive the BMC sponsored racers. Rookie Jerry Grant of Kent, Wash., will drive the Bardahl sponsored auto. We say rookie, as far as the Indy test is concerned ,but Grant has been around for quite a spell as a sports car driver.

Qvale (pronounced "ka-volley"), who likes to put new twists into things, has got new names for the cars. Since his three major plants are located in San Francisco, Los Angeles and Seattle, he's adopted hydroplane type names, eg. Miss San Francisco, Miss Los Angeles and Miss Seattle.

But when we speak of cars, we're referring to parts, frames and wheels. As far as a finished product, Huffaker doesn't have any around.

"You just can't work too far ahead in this game," Joe said. "When you finish one part and start another, you think of a way to improve on your finished part. So it comes apart and you start all over."

But by May 1, Joe hopes to have three cars complete for shipment to Indianapolis. He'll have to be ready by then because that's the deadline. But as he says, "Then you're improving the cars every day when you're there. You're never really finished until the race starts."

It's true his cars will be three of many rear-engined jobs trying for berths in the race, but

Yanks' Maris Is Booked For Brawl, Says 'I Didn't Do It'

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Roger Maris, slugging outfielder for the New York Yankees, has been charged with the wrong kind of slugging — assault and battery.

Jerome A. Modzelewski, 25, a professional model who divides his time between Chicago and Fort Lauderdale, swore out a warrant yesterday charging Maris with beating him up outside a tavern.

"I didn't do it," Maris said today.

"This is definitely a false charge and there is no need for disciplinary action," said Yankee Manager Johnny Keane, who accompanied Maris to police headquarters last night and posted $200 bond.

Modzelewski said the fight occurred early yesterday morning after a patron of a cocktail lounge swore at him as he and a girlfriend, Angela Bedebro of Toronto, were leaving.

Modzelewski said he demanded an apology. Maris, he said, was sitting at a table with three other men.

"Let's get this guy," Modzelewski quoted Maris as saying.

Then, he said, Maris and another man — whom Modzelewski was unable to identify — followed him from the bar and beat him up, cutting his lip so severely it took 11 stitches to close the wound.

Hal Reniff, Yankee relief pitcher, said he was at the table with Maris and infielder Clete Boyer. Keane identified the fourth man at the table as Joe Dimaggio, former Yankee outfielder.

"I didn't see any fight," Reniff said.

"I don't know anything about it," said Boyer.

Dimaggio returned today to his home in San Francisco and was not available for comment, But Modzelewski said the famed Yankee Clipper was not involved in the altercation.

49ers Brodie, Hazeltine In Pro Grid Golf Race

PALO ALTO (AP)—Bob Taylor, lanky defensive end for the New York Giants, shot a 2-over-par 73 in Palo Alto yesterday to take the lead at the halfway mark in the second annual Pro Football Golf Tournament on the Palo Alto Hills Country Club course.

One stroke back at 74 was John Arnett of the Chicago Bears.

John Brodie, San Francisco 49er quarterback and winner of the recent National Football League Golf tournament, was in third place with a 75. He was followed by Herman Wedemeyer of Hawaii, who formerly played with the 49ers. Wedemeyer shot 76.

Matt Hazeltine, 49er linebacker, was the low net leader with 78 and used his 16 stroke handicap for a net 62.

More than 75 players and former players from the National and American and Canadian Leagues are taking part in the 36-hole tournament which concludes today.

Giant Trade 'Isn't Close'

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—The San Francisco Giants' pitching wonder, Juan Marichal, was slated to climb the mound against the Cleveland Indians today for an exhibition game in Phoenix.

Marichal had been scheduled to hurl against the Chicago Cubs yesterday but rain washed out the game. Umpire Stan Landes called the game after almost an hour of rain made playing conditions too perilous.

In the Giants fieldhouse there was the feeling a trade was in the wind, but vice president Chub Feeney said, "We're not really close to any deals."

The Giants have only one lefthander on their pitching staff, and they'd probably like to have another southpaw.

"They're not so easy to get," Feeney said.

It has been reported that San Francisco would like to wrap up a deal with the New York Mets for lefty Alvin Jackson. The Mets are in no hurry to trade and reportedly it's a question of how much they can get.

Marichal, 20-game winner for the past two seasons, is certain to open against the Pirates when the regular season starts April 12 in Pittsburgh.

The pitching rotation, barring major trades, is expected to remain something like the training cycle. Jack Sanford and Bob Bolin will pitch Saturday and Sunday against the Los Angeles Angels in Palm Springs, Calif.

LAST HOLDOUT SIGNS PACT

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — Juan Pizarro, the last major holdout in baseball, agreed to terms with the Chicago White Sox today and was expected to report immediately from his home in San Juan, Puerto Rico.

Pizarro, who won 19 and lost 9 last season, was believed to have signed for slightly in excess of $30,000.

800 To Vie In Tam Club Swim Meet

More than 800 youngsters will converge on Tamalpais High School tomorrow and Sunday to participate in a Class B Amateur Athletic Union-sanctioned swim meet sponsored by the Tamalpais Swim Club.

Competition starts each day at 1 p.m., according to Lurana Hoetger of the AAU office. She said 24 clubs will be represented, including Marin's San Rafael Swim Club, Ann Curtis team of San Rafael, the Voodoos of Hamilton Air Force Base, the Marin Pirates and the Tam Swim Club.

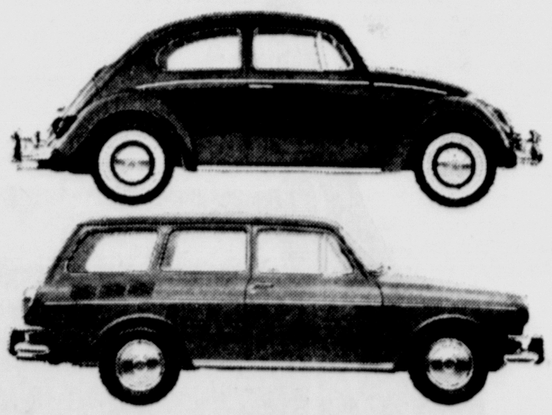

Ages of swimmers range from the 8 and under group through 17. This is competition in the AAU's age-group program originated several years ago by Mrs. Beth Kaufman of San Anselmo, said Mrs. Hoetger.

San Rafael Loses In Tennis Matches

Lick-Wilmerding High of San Francisco, a perennial tennis power, defeated San Rafael High 4-2 in a practice tennis match yesterday at San Rafael.

EXHIBITION ROUNDUP

Spahn Ruins Established Theories With Arm, Bat

By GEORGE C. LANGFORD
UPI Sports Writer

Warren Spahn, baseball's patriarch player, is bent on shattering some well established theories about the game.

Specifically, Spahn is teaching his New York Met proteges that, contrary to popular belief, pitchers can be hitters and a playing career doesn't necessarily end at 44.

Spahn, in his dual role of coach and pitcher for the Mets, is hitting .667 in spring training, ranks third in runs-batted-in on the Mets, has slugged one of the Mets four homers and has posted a 2-0 pitching record.

Yesterday, the Met Methuselah, who will be 44 in three weeks, drove in the two decisive runs, stroked a pair of singles and became the first Mets pitcher to work seven innings as New York tripped Detroit 4-3.

"And just think," said a gleeful Casey Stengel. "I got me a pinch hitter, too."

The ageless lefty blanked the Tigers until the sixth inning when he was touched for one run, Detroit added another run off him in the seventh. Spahn allowed nine hits, several of the infield variety, and struck out three. Dave Wickersham gave up all four New York runs in the third inning and was charged with the loss.

In other games, Cincinnati blanked Minnesota 4-0, the Los Angeles Dodgers nipped Philadelphia 6-3, Pittsburgh shut out Baltimore 7-0, The Chicago White Sox outslugged St. Louis 11-9, Washington beat Kansas City 11-6 and the Los Angeles Angels defeated their Pacific Coast League farm team, Seattle, 5-3. The Chicago Cubs-San Francisco game and the Cleveland-Boston contest in Arizona were cancelled because of rain.

The St. Louis Cardinals, showing an obvious need for added bullpen help this spring, blew a 9-2 lead as the White Sox tallied nine times in the seventh inning. Danny Cater's double was the only extra base hit in the big inning, which featured five walks and six singles off Bob Gibson, loser Mike Cuellar and Barney Schultz.

The Reds scored their first shutout of the spring over the Twins, who left 14 men on base. Minnesota peppered Billy McCool, Gerry Arrigo and Ted Davidson with nine hits and coaxed seven walks but failed to tally. Vada Pinson homored for the Reds.

Willie Kirkland drove in five runs with a homer and single and Joe Cunningham slugged a grand-slammer for the Senators. Joe Dickson of the A's lasted less than two innings and was charged with 10 runs. Buster Narum worked seven innings for Washington, allowing six runs. Jim Gentile homered for the A's.

Jackie Warner's two run homer in the seventh broke a 3-3 tie and gave the Angeles a victory over Seattle. Aubrey Gatewood, who threatened to quit baseball when the Angels famred him out to Seattle, pitched four scoreless innings for the losers. Rookie Paul Schaal continued his hot-hitting for the Angels with two doubles and a single and Willie Smith added a homer.

SQUAW SQUABBLE: CAL BLASTED BY CUSHING

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)— The next round in the battle between the Squaw Valley ski resort and the State of California will be staged in court, but the defendant has started throwing rock-filled verbal snowballs.

Alex Cushing, president of the Squaw Valley Development Corp., which runs the Sierra resort that was the site of the 1960 Winter Olympics, fired back at the state yesterday at a San Francisco news conference.

The state filed a complaint in Placer County Superior Court March 26 charging the resort with violating a long list of safety regulations contained in a snow safety plan agreed to by both parties.

Cushing denied the charges and said adjoining state land is in a slum condition. Portions of his 14 ski lifts run over the state land.

Cushing passed out photographs showing conditions on what he said was the state property. They showed a broken marquee left over from the Winter Olympics, a building without walls and a torn flag on a pole.

Among the state charges were that the resort failed to comply with avalanche control plans and didn't maintain adequate ski patrols or rescue toboggans.

Cushing replied that he had from 16 to 51 patrolmen on the slopes at all times, depending upon how many skiiers were there. He said that 25 skiiers will have accidents out of the 5,000 who show on weekends and that it takes one patrolman about one hour to take care of one casualty.

Cushing also said there were sufficient vehicles to get injured skiiers.

"We have had a perfect safety record for the past two years on our ski lifts," Cushing said. "Because we've had not one accident in two years and 3,800,000 lift-passenger hours, our liability insurance rate is the lowest in the nation and we've been promised a further reduction."

Cushing accused the State Department of Parks and Recreation of faulty administration and ignorance of the ski country.

BUSY FUTURE FOR JOSE TORRES

Four Foes Lined Up For Boxing's New Glamor Boy

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Jose Torres, the new glamor boy of boxing who won the light heavyweight title from Willie Pastrano, will make his first defense for promoter Chris Dundee, says Dundee.

The Miami Beach promoter is the brother of Angelo Dundee, manager of Pastrano and heavyweight champion Cassius Clay. Chris Dundee said the deal was arranged with Cain Young, Torres' financial backer and advisor, three months ago. He said that Young, a wealthy Brooklyn realtor, had placed $25,000 in escrow here to guarantee Torres' appearance in case he won the title.

And among the four possible opponents, said Chris last night, is Pastrano, the battered ninth round technical knockout victim of Torres' hammering blows Tuesday night at Madison Square Garden.

After he had absorbed the savage beating, Pastrano, a 29-year-old veteran of 13½ years of pro battling, said "I may never fight again."

The other contenders mentioned by Chris were Wayne Thornton, the World Boxing Association's No. 1 contender from Fresno, Calif.; third-ranked Harold Johnson of Philadelphia who lost the crown to Pastrano in 1963, and Argentina's Gregorio Peralta, the No. 4 contender who was stopped by Pastrano in a title bout last year.

A Torres-Pastrano return bout could result in drastic action by the WBA. The boxing body has a rule barring return title fights. It stripped Cassius Clay of heavyweight champion recognition for signing for a return bout with Sonny Liston.

It was a pre-fight return bout contract between Liston's Inter-Continental Promotions, Inc. and Clay that created a fuss and was aired at a Congressional investigation.

NO SECRET

Chris Dundee said the deal with Young "is no secret. I think it's been published before. I have a contract for Torres' first defense in case he won the title from Pastrano. The fight may be held in Miami Beach or some place else. No date, site or opponent has been picked."

It was Young who guaranteed Pastrano $100,000 for defending against Torres. He agreed to pay the difference, if any, between Pastrano's 30 per cent in the champion's contract with the Garden and $100,000.

When asked about the contract between his brother and Young, Angelo Dundee said "I don't know anything about it. It's news to me. Chris is a promoter and it's his affair. He does his business and I do mine."

Will Pastrano fight again?

"I don't know if he'll quit or not," said Angelo. "He's still down in the mouth about the defeat. Every fighter talks of quitting right after he loses. I'll get together with Willie in a few days and we'll see what we will see."

Young could not be reached immediately for comment in New York.

In Toronto, Merv McKenzie, president of the WBA, said last night that Torres' title would, in all probability, be lifted if he signed to fight Pastrano in a rematch.

"The WBA is opposed to return bouts," McKenzie said, "and a Torres-Pastrano rematch would probably have the same effect as the Clay-Liston deal."

Moyer, Lester Mix In S.F. Feature Tonight

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Denny Moyer, ringwise welterweight who lost three split decisions to world champion Emile Griffith, faces up-and-coming Jimmy Lester tonight in a 10-round bout at Kezar Pavilion.

Moyer, out of Sid Flaherty's stable in Portland, Ore., is a 6-5 favorite to defeat Lester although the latter has won all 15 of his professional fights.

The Oregon veteran is expected to have too much ring-savvy for his hard-hitting San Francisco foe.

Moyer formerly held the WBA's version of the junior middleweight title and has met such opponents as Ralph Dupas, Joey Giambra, Virgil Akins and Don Jordan in addition to Griffith.

Matchmaker Mario Spampinato says that the bout should draw a bigger Kezar turnout than the 4,800 which watched Eddie Machen stop Duke Sabedong last year.

First bout on the card starts at 8:30 o'clock.

Another 10-rounder, matches Rocky Montalvo and Leon Linscomb, also middleweights. Montolvo, the favorite, lost a decision to Moyer in San Francisco three months ago.

Seals' Swarbrick Rookie Of Year

SEATTLE (AP) — George Swarbrick, right winger of the San Francisco Seals, was named Wednesday as outstanding rookie of the Western Hockey League.

The selection, carrying a cash bonus of $300, was made by vote of the league's players.

Swarbrick was a star of the Canadian Olympic team last year and joined the Seals at their training camp in autumn. After a slow start, the 175-pound rookie wound up the season with 44 points, 22 of them coming on goals.

Swarbrick received 359 ballot points and Rollie Wilcox, Victoria winger, was second with 287.

Fast, expert service and repair work by Marin's oldest MERCURY dealer . . . 13 years MERCURY SALES & SERVICE. All motors and parts in stock.

Your Mercury dealer invites you to
the speed, power, and fuel economy of the Merc 900 with other 90 hp outboards

The new 90 hp Merc 900 gives you 15 "free" horsepower. Why? Because with a Merc 900 on your transom you can outrun and outpull any of our competitors' 90 hp outboards . . . yet still use less fuel than their 75 hp.

Some of the reasons for this kind of performance are: Power-Dome combustion chambers that squeeze more energy from every ounce of fuel • New internal reed valves • Improved carburetion techniques • A new dry-exhaust system which reduces back-pressure, improves engine breathing, and boosts power to the prop • Jet-Prop exhaust that reduces underwater drag • A smooth, angle-free lower unit that assures a solid, non-turbulent flow of water to the propeller.

You get another extra with the Merc 900 . . . extra quiet. A full 50% quieter. The sound was engineered out, not padded in. Unlike ordinary outboards, which pay for noise reduction by sacrificing power, Merc's new silencing system actually increases engine horsepower.

Drop in to see your Mercury dealer today. He'll be glad to make a point-by-point comparison of the new Merc 900, or any Merc, with ordinary outboards. Your own comparison will show you why you get more RUN for your money with Mercury . . . 100, 90, 65, 50, 35, 20, 9.8, 6 and 3.9 hp.

Marin Man Races Deadline For '500' Speedway Classic

Joe Huffaker Has 3 Cars On The Line

"Ford had 5 last year and this year there are 16 of them," said Huffaker. He added that the Ford engines are loaded with 500 horse power. Because of this, he has been making changes in his camshaft, fuel mixture, and other items of his cars to hike up the horsepower. He's boosted the HP from 403 to 467 and plans to go even higher before race-time.

Hansgen was pushing Foyt and was in second place last year when a fuel pump crack forced him to the sidelines. After a 27-minute delay, Hansgen got back on the track but by then it was too late to make any challenge.

WON'T CRACK

"We've made our own fuel pump casing for this year and this one won't crack," said Huffaker.

And speaking of fuel, Huffaker has switched to new type gas tanks made out of polyurethane which is extremely rugged material. The insides of the tanks — which are mounted on either side of the car under the driver — are filled with a material that displaces the oxygen content of the tanks. Result? The tanks cannot possibly explode, even if you push a match inside. The tank is encased in metal.

Main point of the car is the liquid suspension system that works on water. There are no springs, shock absorbers or torsion bars. And this part of the vehicle passed its tests in flying colors last year at the Brickyards while other rear-engined cars were having troubles with axles and suspension systems.

Reason for the move from San Francisco, said Huffaker, was because of space and noise. Located across from the Jack Tar Hotel, a lot of eyes must have turned when they heard the roar of engine testing going on in his "little" shop.

Now he's closer to home and saves time in the short hop from Novato to San Rafael. "And that gives me an extra hour to work," he says. And he's not kidding. Some of his work days run from 8 o'clock in the morning to midnight. Whew!

Huffaker doesn't want to take all the credit for the work put out by his crew at BMC. "Could you include their names?" he asked. There are Frank Morrill, sports car foreman; Larry Bruno, machinist; Chuck Tannlund, assembly work; Willard Stryker, welding and frame work; Mike Rockland, mechanic; Russ Brown, mechanic, and Harry Knox, office manager.

INDOOR SWIMMING

San Mateo Youth Wows Nat'l AAU

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—For Greg Buckingham, the national AAU indoor 400-yard individual medley swim he won was to have been a warmup for a couple of other races.

With that relaxed attitude, all he did was murder the American record last night in Yale's 25-yard pool by posting a spectacular 4:08.9, chopping nearly five seconds from the listed mark.

"I don't blame them," said the 6-foot-3, 190-pound youngster, a freshman at the College of San Mateo, Calif. "I haven't been more than average. I've been in the 400-yard medley about four times now, and was in this one only for a warmup."

Greg wasn't able to make any of the Olympic trial finals last summer, but he did get a third place in the 200-meter freestyle and swam on the victorious Santa Clara 800-meter relay team anchored by Olympic hero Don Schollander.

That probably explains why Schollander, a Yale freshman, cheered wildly for Buckingham last night, as Greg beat out Southern California's Roy Saari by two feet in a driving finish. this afternoon in the 200-yard for grabs today.

The warmup over, Buckingham makes his next appearance this afternoon in the 200-yard freestyle trials, and one of his opponents is Schollander, making his first appearance in a championship meet since winning four gold medals in the Tokyo Olymqics.

GREG BUCKINGHAM
Only a warmup

Another entered in the same event is Yale's Steve Clark, who captured three gold medals in the Olympics. The 200 sprint has developed into one of the show cases of this meet that ends Saturday. Five other titles are up for grabs today.

In the only other title event yesterday, Saari, fresh from scoring a triple in the NCAA swims last week, captured the 1,650-yard freestyle for the fourth time. His time of 16:40.8 was faster than his listed American mark of 16:49.3. But last week he won the NCAA event with a spectacular 16:39.9.

Flock Of World Track Records Are Approved

LONDON (AP) — World records of a flock of American Olympic champions, including three by sprinter Bob Hayes, have been officially recognized.

The International Amateur Athletic Federation also approved marks set by Henry Carr, Mike Larrabee, Rex Cawley, Fred Hansen, and Bob Schul, among others, on Thursday.

Hayes, the Olympic 100-meter king from Florida A&M, was credited with 9.1 seconds for 100 yards, for a record-tying 10 seconds flat for the 100 meters, and for his part as anchor man in the winning U.S. team's time of 39 seconds in the 1964 Olympics.

Carr of Arizona State, who turned pro with the New York Giants of the NFL, received recognition for his time of 20.2 seconds for 200 meters and 220 yards around a turn, and as a member of the U.S. 1,600-meter relay-team that was clocked in 3:00.7 in the Tokyo Games.

Larrabee, of Los Angeles, had a time of 44.9 seconds for 400 meters approved along with his share in the 1,600-meter relay.

Schul of Miami, Ohio, University, was credited with a time of 8:26.4 for two miles, and Cawley, of Los Angeles, got the stamp of approval for his time of 49.1 for the 400-meter hurdles. Other marks, among the long list approved, were the 27-4½ broad jump of Ralph Boston of Covina, Calif., and the 3:54.1 mile of Peter Snell, New Zealand's 800 and 1,500-meter Olympic champion.

NEW FACES OF '65

Pro Golf Pattern Is Holding Form

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Despite the presence of most of the big names of professional golf, the pattern of recent weeks is holding in the $65,000 Greater Greensboro Open Tournament.

Tommy Aaron, 28-year-old pro of five years from Gainesville, Ga., never a winner on the tour, held a one-shot lead going into today's second round.

He blistered the 7,000-yard par 36-35—71 Sedgefield Country Club course with a first round 31-35—66 yesterday.

Four times this year in 11 tournaments, the victor has been a first-time winner. It happened twice in the last two weeks. Bert Weaver scored at Jacksonville, Fla., two weeks ago and last Sunday at Wilmington, N.C., it was Dick Hart's turn.

The presence of Masters champion Arnold Palmer and other top stars was supposed to change things here.

But Palmer, with putting problems, had to settle for a 72 as 18 men in the field of 144 broke par and 21 others matched it. Tony Lema had 71 and Gary Player shot 73.

Aaron was surprised he did well, because he says he is not a cold weather player. He had six birdies and only one bogey on a day in which the temperature never got out of the 40s and skies were heavily overcast.

Aaron, although never a winner, has had his moments. In 1963 he lost two playoffs and finished second in two other events.

"I haven't found a course particularly suited to my game but I usually play better when it's warm on the better conditioned courses, Aaron noted.

"This round surprised me. I would have considered 69 or 70 a good round."

He rejoined the tour here after sitting out last week's Azalea event to rest at home.

Aaron's five-under-par 66 was good for a one-shot edge over five-time British Walker Cup-Ryder Cup player Bernard Hunt and Bill Martindale, former Texas A&M player, who picked up $500 bonus with his first hole-in-one. Martindale aced the 171-yard seventh hole with a No. 7 iron.

Duff Lawrence, who is leaving the tour after this tournament for the security of a club job at Columbus, Ohio, and Sam Snead tied for fourth with 68s.

Snead, shooting for an eighth victory here since 1938, knocked in three straight birdie putts of 10 to 12 feet, starting on No. 4.

Defending dhampion Julius Boros was one of 21 with par 71.

Detroit And Montreal Win In NHL

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Detroit Red Wings and the Montreal Canadiens, who finished one-two in the regular season, have jumped out in front in the National Hockey League playoffs for the Stanley Cup.

The Red Wings beat the Chicago Black Hawks 4-3 last night on Norm Ullman's goal with less than five minutes to play before a Detroit turnout of 14,927. Bobby Rousseau's goal with less than eight minutes to go gave the Canadiens a 3-2 triumph over the Toronto Maple Leafs, the defending cup champions, before 14,007 at Montreal.

The semifinal best-of-7 series resume this weekend. Toronto plays at Montreal Saturday night. Chicago is at Detroit Sunday night.

Each winning goal came in spectacular fashion.

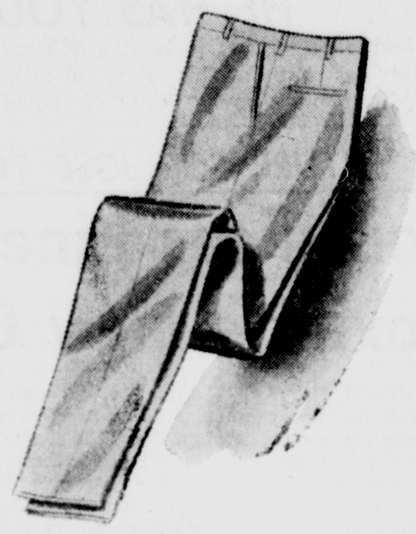

Ullman's came only seconds after the veteran center had left the penalty box. He skated in front of the net, took a pass from Parker MacDonald and batted a hard backhand shot past goalie Glenn Hall at 15:13 of the third period.

Rousseau's winner came at 12:29 of the third period when Toronto was a man short. He took Jean Beliveau's pass at the blueline, cut past Carl Brewer and shovelled the puck over goalie Johnny Bower before sliding into the boards.

The FISHIN' FOOL

Scribe Recalls Old Friendships; Local Angling Hits A Short Lull

STEVENS

"There's an old time friends of yours standing beside me. You remember the boat Apache and the skipper, don't you?" asked Hal Boenner of Lee Anderson's bait emporium. I didn't remember and told Hal so. Then, like an echo from the past came the voice of—"Swede" Hanson. Then I remembered those long-ago days when Swede and the Apache were always in the van of salmon or bass fishing.

Hanson now skippers the Wilma H, and as usual takes his toll of salmon when salmon are to be taken. "Old skippers never die," and some of them refuse to "Fade away." Another old time captain with whom I had many exciting trips is also in the news today. Bill Rowland of the Rowland R. is marking time awaiting the commercial season on salmon and albacore. Here's wishing both these fine skippers flocks of productive days.

THE ELEMENTS conspired to slow down the take on salmon and ditto stripers. However, there was good action over last weekend, and it likely is a mere lull. I note that the boat Sea Horse had 18 salmon to 10 pounds on Sunday and on Tuesday managed to net 7 fish to 9 pounds. The Chinook, on the Sabbath, took 25 salmon to 16 pounds; the Miss Dragnet had 22 to 17 pounds, and the Lucky Day unloaded 21 to 20 pounds, and the Privaneer took 19 to 21 pounds.

Regarding striper striving, there is some indication that some fresh bass have come in from the sea the past few days —in the lower bay, but nothing really hot. Also some good action is reported trolling and live bait drifting off Treasure Island. The Lucky Ace netted 3 stripers to 22 pounds off China Champ.

On Tuesday, two skiffs out of Joe's launching at Santa Venetia came back to port with four bass each. Fish ran from 6 to 14 pounds, four on sardines and four on bullheads.

IN THE UPPER reaches of the San Pablo Bay, on the Contra Costa side, bass have been taken at the various buoys from No. 7 to No. 14. Carl Bennett of Rodeo Marina reported the ship Bluefish taking 21 salmon to 15 pounds over the weekend; one party boat out of the Rodeo Marina netted both bass and sturgeon.

Followers of the ancient sport of archery will congregate this Sunday for the 8th annual Marin pen Handicap Archery Tournament at the Northwoods Bowmen's Club Range in San Rafael. Some swell prizes—beautiful engraved trophies to winners, regardless of age, sex . . . barebow or freestyle. Even though you are no bowman, there's no charge for looking on — might appeal to you. Shooting, I understand, will begin at 8:30. Why not finish that second cup of coffee and tag along?

THE PARDEE DAM makes its spring opening today, so if you have no pressing business closer to town, you might get in a pleasant outing. Good chances of catching a Kokanee. The 125,000 small Kokanees planted in the lake should be large enough now to pit their ability to do battle against your fly rod. Lots of fish in the lake: black bass, catfish, crappies, sunfish and bluegills.

The entire lake is restricted to fishing only. No speed boats or skiers are allowed. Rates for camp sites, rowboats or motor rental are quite reasonable and you can get almost anything you need at the store. To get to the Pardee Dam recreation grounds, drive to Stockton and thence 38 miles northeast. This prime short vacation spot opens Friday noon through Sundays and on holidays.

Four Marin Anglers Win In Final Week

There were four Marin County winners in the final week of the Schenley Sportsmen's Club striped bass program. The 16-week program came to a close last Sunday.

Burl Yeoman of Novato won with a 19-pound, 3-ounce striper caught in San Pablo Bay; Ray Lusk of San Anselmo won with a 22-pounder caught in China Camp; Frank Fielder of San Rafael had one weighing 28 pounds, 8 ounces, also caught in China Camp, and John Wilson of Mill Valley won with a 30-pound whopper caught near the Shell Banks.

Marina Opening Event Scheduled

Redrock Marina, Richmond's new pleasure boating center, will celebrate completion of the first phase of its eventual 250-berth yacht harbor with a grand opening program of special aquatic events on Sunday, May 23, developer Dick Nayler has announced.

Speedboat, water ski and sailboat races, display and demonstrations of conventional and unique new boats and other unusual events will highlight the day-long program. The public is invited.

The 100 new berths will be joined by another 100, with work on the second phase starting in June. The harbor is on the site of the former Richmond-San Rafael Ferry terminus.

Tiburon Road Alternate Plan To Be Designed

Tiburon's planning advisers, Williams, Cooke and Mocine, will take on the job of designing an alternate route for Tiburon Boulevard, at a cost of $3,000.

Buildings in a few weeks will be ready to put down fill along the shoreline from Reed Ranch Road toward San Rafael Avenue for a straight, four-lane road designed by the State Division of Highways Engineers. Fill will come from present road construction farther north.

Tiburon residents want a slightly curving road which would follow the shoreline. They want to save the grassy knoll opposite Little Reed Heights, now planned to be leveled, they want a turn out and parking area along the road and a pathway to allow access to Richardson Bay.

Planning firm, located in San Francisco, will begin design work immediately under its agreement with the city. The contract was approved by a city council committee of John S. Hoffmire Jr. and Leo Souza, and informally approved by other council members who will ratify it at the April 12 council meeting, City Mgr. Lawrence D. Rose said.

Meanwhile work will begin on a new design. A meeting is scheduled Monday with state highway engineers to find how much of city's ideas can be included in the highway.

Registration Set For Tiny Tot Time

Registration will be held from 7 to 8 p.m. today at the Terra Linda Recreation Center for a tiny tot recreation program to begin next week.

The program will open for four- and five-year-olds at the recreation center at 10 a.m. Monday. For three-year-olds and some four-year-olds, the program will begin at the same time next Friday.

GLANCE AT BALLOT

San Rafael Ballot Will Ask Bond Issue, Higher Tax Rate

By JEFF GREER

(Last of three articles.)

At the bottom of the ballot for most voters in the April 12 San Rafael municipal and school district elections are two financial issues for the San Rafael Elementary School District.

The two decisions to be made by citizens in the voting booth may be last, but they certainly won't be least in importance, San Rafael educators have declared.

Propositions One and Two will have an immediate and long-range effect on the futures of nearly 5,000 pupils in the district.

In Proposition One, the San Rafael Board of Education asks the voters to approve an $850,000 bond issue for construction of multipurpose rooms in 10 of the district's schools.

A two-thirds "yes" vote is required for passage.

Proposition Two asks the voters' permission to raise the statutory maximum base tax rate the district can levy from $1.75 to $2.25 per $100 assessed property valuation.

Only a simple majority is needed for passage.

The multipurpose rooms bond issue will be on the April 12 ballot for the third time in as many years. In 1963, San Rafael voters turned down a $3.97 million bond issue—including $670,000 for multipurpose rooms—by a three per cent margin. Last year, a $3.3 million building bond issue was approved for classrooms, but a separate issue of $670,000 for the multipurpose rooms fell eight votes short of approval.

San Rafael educators claimed today that 90 per cent of all California public schools have the large, many-functional rooms, and rapidly ticked off at least a dozen uses for which they say the rooms are needed. Among these:

School assemblies, exercise, special teaching events including team teaching, creative practice and instruction, parent conferences, parent-teacher Assn. meetings and other community functions.

District officials have stated that the bonds would cost the owner of an average $25,000 home in San Rafael a total of only $3.16 per year additional on his tax bill.

The tax rate increase is sought because the board says it is needed to keep up with increasing population pressure.

The elementary district expects 200 to 250 more pupils to answer the bell next fall. This means hiring at least six more classroom teachers, plus possibly other faculty for remedial work, psychological caseload and other special items.

District trustees also are striving to get the average classroom population down to 31 or 32 pupils per teacher in lower grades and 35 in intermediate grades.

District voters approved a $1.75 tax rate in 1960. Since then the district has for several years had to dip into reserves to keep operating without cutbacks in services of supplies furnished the children, according to Asst. Dist. Supt. William Jordan.

The $1.75 operating tax rate is among the lowest in the county, only Bolinas-Stinson, Lincoln-Tomales Bay, Laguna, Nicasio and Point Reyes elementary school districts having lower rates.

Actually, however, the statutory maximum means little, there being various over-ride taxes which can be levied without asking the voters, as well as levies to pay off indebtedness. In total tax rate, San Rafael rates No. 10 among 18 elementary school districts in the county. San Rafael Elementary's total tax rate this year was $2.295. Highest was $3.595 in Larkspur, lowest 39 cents in rural Lincoln.

A 50-cent increase would raise the San Rafael rate above those in Fairfax ($2.425) and Ross ($2.595) and almost equal to that of Mill Valley ($2.80).

Should the voters allow the rate increase to $2.25, the extra cost to the average homeowner would be only $2.38 per month, Jordan said. But district-wide, this would bring in $400,000 next year.

Two Booked In Change Case

Noe Martinez Martinez, 30, and Carmen Delia Diaz, 23, both of San Francisco, were booked by San Rafael police Wednedsay on charges of trying to short-change a drugstore clerk.

Police said they arrested the two as they drove east on Third Street about 5:30 p.m., shortly after receiving a call from William L. Greene of the Thrifty Drug Store, 471 Third Street.

Greene said Martinez and Miss Diaz had entered the store separately and flashed various bills, asking to change them, in an apparent effort to short-change him.

Mill Valley Septuagenarian Off For Trip Around World

By MOLLY MARIN

Another Mill Valley septuagenarian, Mrs. Emma C. Koepke, is off for a trip around the world. Seventy-two years old, Mrs. Koepke said goodbye to her daughter, Mrs. John D. Harding of Alto, and sailed Wednesday on the S. S. "Oronsay" for Hawaii, Japan, Hong Kong, Manila and Singapore.

She will leave the ship at Bombay for a week to fly to Jerusalem and Egypt, reboarding the ship at Port Said, Egypt, and continuing to Italy, Spain and London. While in Egypt she is planning to ride a camel and visit the Pyramids and in the Holy Land see the places of biblical significance.

FROM LONDON Mrs. Koepke will travel on the S. S. "France" to New York City. There she will join her sister, Mrs. C. E. Schauer of Skokie, Ill., for a visit to the World's Fair. They will also visit friends in the East and fly to Chicago to see other members of the family.

In Yankton, S. D., Mrs. Koepke will visit an aunt and possibly see Mrs. Eugene Williams, who formerly lived in Bon Air.

HOME IN Sausalito from a winter in Mexico are Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Kempf.

They left on Dec. 1 and visited many places in the country. Among their outstanding experiences were seeing the Jungles and the Mayan ruins at Chichen Itza and Uxmal. They found Guatemala very beautiful. Other places they visited were Antigua, Lake Atitman, Guadalajara, Mazatlan and Mexico City. They spent the holidays at Ajijic on Lake Chapala.

ED AND MARGUERITE

At Taxco they met the Ralph Priestleys of Ross, and Mrs. Helene Morck, formerly of Sausalito at Mexico City.

On their way home the Kempfs visited their daughter, Mrs. William J. Ruby (Carmela) and her husband and two children at Malibu Beach.

Edises, of Mill Valley, are leaving Saturday for a seven-months' tour of Europe. They plan to look at the countries they visit from two points of view — as tourists seeing Europe for the first time, and to compare living there with living in Marin. Marguerite says she'd be amazed if they find any spot they would prefer to this county.

From July 26 to 31 Marguerite will be at The Hague, attending the International Congress of Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, which celebrates its golden anniversary this year. Where she will represent the Marin Chapter.

Mary Greiner Will Marry Douglas Winfield McGeorge

An informal family dinner in their San Anselmo home was the occasion for the announcement of the engagement of Mary Kathryn Greiner to Douglas Winfield McGeorge by her mother, Mrs. Karl M. Greiner.

MARY GREINER

Kitchie is the daughter of the late Mr. Greiner and the sister of Elizabeth Ann Greiner of San Anselmo. She was graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School and attended College of Marin and San Francisco State College.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene W. McGeorge of Mill Valley are Douglas' parents and Eugene William McGeorge of Seattle is his brother. He is the grandson of Mrs. Daniel Alexander of San Francisco.

The future bridegroom was graduated from Tamalpais High School and College of Marin and attends McGeorge College of Law in Sacramento.

A late summer wedding is planned.

Job Corps To Open Its First Training Center For Women

By BONNIE ANGELO
Advance News Service

WASHINGTON—The job corps will open its first training center for young women next week, offering girls from the slums a new wardrobe, new skills, and a new view of themselves.

An ethnically mixed group of 300 carefully chosen girls aged 16 to 21 will report April 6 to the new center at St. Petersburg, Fla., for a year's training, mainly in service trades. Three more centers will open soon, in Cleveland, Los Angeles, and Charleston, W. Va.

Anti-poverty planners originally made no provisions for training girls, despite estimates that 14 million women live in poverty —3.5 million more women than men—and head 25 per cent of all poor families.

A JOB CORPS PROGRAM for women was added only after a battle on capitol hill, led by Rep. Edith Green (D-Ore).

The approach to the women's training will be different — and somewhat more costly — than the program for men. Emphasis will be on developing the whole person, with a special effort to build self-respect and a feeling of individual worth.

The goal is "to see that young girls caught in the cycle of economic poverty are not treated as if their places were on the fringe of life . . . and to form bridges to help them escape from distitution, degradation and despair," the job corps says.

The young women will be expected, as future mothers, to pass broadened horizons on to their children.

Family care, meal planning, budgeting and shopping will be a part of each girl's training.

THEY WILL BE issued suitable clothing — shirtwaist dresses, blue blazers, shoes — and will receive $30 a month for personal uses not covered by the room and meals provided at the center. In addition $50 monthly will be held for them until they complete their course, usually in about a year. Each girl may send her family up to $25 a month from the $50, and it will not be counted against any welfare benefits the family receives.

The girls' job centers will usually be established in modest, in-town hotels, and will be operated by local agencies. The St. Petersburg center, for example, is under the direction of the county board of education, which received a $2.5 million grant for the initial 18-month period.

MOST APPLICANTS want to learn hospital and nursing jobs, which are in short supply everywhere. However, it is expected that many will be steered into jobs in dry-cleaning, sewing, kitchen work, retailing, child care and into specialized work suited to the locale of the job center.

This part of the girls' center corresponds closely to the young men's program. The sharp differences are in living conditions and the wider emphasis on personality in the girls' program.

Dr. Bennetta Washington, director of the women's job corps, knows first-hand the problems of girls from blighted neighborhoods. She is on leave from her post as principal of a high school in a Washington slum, where many of the anti-poverty programs were first tried under federal grants.

"SO MANY OF these girls," said Dr. Washington, "have been made to feel that they are failures, that they are inferior, that they have no future . . . our program is designed to develop agile minds and strong spirits and unique human beings."

To do this, the girls will be given unaccustomed privacy in their living arrangements, with only two to a room, instead of the dormitory set-up used in many men's centers.

Cleaniness Helps Looks, Effectiveness Of Lamps

Your lamps will keep their good looks and continue giving proper light if you follow these easy-care tips:

1. During your routine once-a-week housecleaning, use a soft cloth to wipe off the bulb, reflector bowl (if there is one), and lamp base. Use the soft brush attachment of your vacuum cleaner on the shade.

"Keeping the bulb and reflector clean is most important," the Institute says. "It's estimated that a film of dust or dirt can cut light output by 50 per cent."

2. Once a month, or oftener if needed, remove the reflector from the lamp, wash in warm, soapy water, rinse and dry thoroughly, and then replace it. Never wash light bulbs; the water may loosen the cement holding the base to the glass.

3. To clean lamp bases, use a mild warm water soap solution on glass, pottery, marble, and onyx surfaces, then wipe dry. Wood and metal should be dusted and protected with a thin coat of wax.

Never use polishes or abrasives on metal surfaces. These surfaces are usually protected with transparent lacquer which polishes will remove. Once this happens, the metal is exposed to the tarnishing effects of the air.

4. Soiled lamp shades with the exception of paper and parchment can often be cleaned if you use the right procedure for each type, as follows:

FABRIC — Linen, cotton, chintz, painted silk, or appliqued shades should be dry cleaned only. So should any fabric shades whose trimmings are glued instead of stitched.

Rayon and silk shades can be washed if the trimmings are stitched. First dust the shade, then slosh it up and down in a tub of lukewarm suds. Rinse in several clear lukewarm water rinses. Blot as dry as possible with terry towel. Then put in stiff breeze, preferably from an electric fan. Never place the damp shade in sunlight or on a radiator.

LEATHER — Dust with dry cloth. Apply a small amount of vaseline with a soft cloth once a month.

Plastic — Dust first, then wipe with a damp, soapy cloth, followed by a cloth dampened in clear water. Then wipe entirely dry.

Metallic paper—Apply a mixture of one part turpentine to ten parts mineral oil with a soft cloth. Wipe dry.

Fiberglas — Dip in lukewarm suds, then in clear water. Use a soft cloth to apply the suds, then a fresh one to rinse and wipe dry.

Metal — Wipe with a damp cloth, then quickly wipe dry. Never use furniture polish.

Women Must Take Share Of Helping Humanity Says Writer

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — Woman's responsibility no longer can be confined to the home or to the job outside the home.

As one-half of the human race, more or less, women must take on their share of helping to improve it worldwide, says Pearl Buck.

Miss Buck, the winner of both the Nobel and Pulitzer prizes for her writings, spoke of modern woman's duty as she announced plans for new aid to half-American children in Korea and other Asian countries.

PEARL BUCK

"MOST OF today's women I meet have nothing to complain about, nothing to fight about in their own lives," said Miss Buck. "Now, they must accept more responsibility in the area of world problems. There is nothing women can't do if they want.

"We need the minds especially of the brilliant women. Nature does not dole brains out by sex.

"THE WORLD'S problems are too stupendous for only one half of the population to shoulder them."

"Look," said Miss Buck, "at the communists. With them, women are forced out of the home and to go into action."

MISS BUCK, at 72, continues active as a writer, as part owner of a motion picture producing company, and as the founder of Welcome House, Inc., an adoption agency which finds permanent homes and parents for children of Asian-American blood.

Now, she's established the Pearl S. Buck Foundation to carry further her aid to the children of mixed parentage.

The foundation will aid these children, in the hundreds of thousands, she said, through agencies in their own countries. Adoption, Miss Buck said, is the answer for a very small percentage.

The author has nine adopted children.

Miss Buck was born in West Virginia and grew up in the Orient and has visited Asian countries frequently in recent years, spoke also of her feelings concerning the now communist-ruled China of her childhood.

"I WOULD HOPE for communications with the Chinese Reds," she said, "because this would be in the original concept of the United Nations — all nations talking out their problems. Like, saying, I may hate my family, but they're there."

She thought that the United States should under no circumstances, however, relax its course in Viet Nam. "Every time you give up, you give up more to the opposite side than that little place, whether Viet Nam, Korea, Panama," she said.

"This was the age all of us knew was coming. Communism has forced it . . . because some new nations have had no other government to turn to. The communists have provided what seems an easy way. I feel that other nations will have to work out their own governments, however, as we did ours."

FEATURED THIS SATURDAY

Are men becoming more fashion conscious in their clothing? And if so, what are the trends in male styles? An expert in the field, fashion artist Morrell Johnson of Terra Linda, discusses the subject in tomorrow's issue of the Independent-Journal's weekend supplement. Currently illustrating a history of men's clothing styles, he will tell you just how fashion trends get started. And exactly what is in vogue today among well-dressed males.

What must be one of Marin County's most impressive public buildings is the new College of Marin physical education complex at Kentfield. On the eve of its dedication, the Marin Magazine takes you on a picture tour of that fine building tomorrow. At the same time, you will also learn something about the philosophy behind the physical education program at your community college. It's as modern as the facilities in which the classes are housed.

Today is Friday, April 2, the 92nd day of 1965 with 273 to follow.

The moon is approaching its first quarter. The morning star is Mars. The evening stars are Mars, Jupiter and Mercury.

Hans Christian Andersen, the Danish writer of fairy tales, was born on this day in 1805.

On this day in history:

In 1792, Congress authorized a mint of the United States to coin money.

In 1840, Emile Zola, the French writer and essayist, was born.

In 1865, President Jefferson Davis and most of his Confederate cabinet fled from Richmond, Va., after Gen. Robert E. Lee abandoned Richmond and Petersburg.

In 1917, President Woodrow Wilson asked Congress to declare war on Germany.

A thought for the day—Woodrow Wilson once said: "The highest and best form of efficiency is the spontaneous cooperation of a free people."

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Bridge Player's Luck Takes Various Shapes

It's sometimes hard to know whether a bridge player is lucky or unlucky.

South was lucky to get most of the high cards, lucky that cards were well placed for him, and lucky to bid a slam that he could make. South's only bad luck was the identity of the East player.

Opening lead — ◇ K

West opened the king of diamonds and continued with the ace, forcing South to ruff. Declarer cashed the top clubs and ruffed a club in dummy.

SLAM A CINCH

Now the slam was a cinch. South could get to his hand with the king of trumps, ruff another club in dummy, draw trumps, and try the heart finesse. Nobody could over-ruff the club, and the queen of hearts was well placed. What could be sweeter?

SEES NEW PLAN

South changed his plan of play. He drew two rounds of trumps with the queen and king but left the last trump out.

Since West "obviously" had the last club as well as the last trump, South planned to cash the ten of clubs to discard a heart from dummy. Then he could cash the top hearts and ruff heart in dummy without relying on the heart finesse.

When South led the 10 of clubs, however, West ruffed with the jack of spades, defeating the slam contract. Wasn't that unlucky?

YOU OBJECT?

"Poof," you object. "South should not believe that queen of clubs. He could see Terence Reese in the East seat and should smell something fishy."

Not at all. The hand was played some thirty years ago, when Reese was still a college student. Nobody knew then that Reese was destined to become a world-famous bridge expert.

What bad luck for South!

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with two spades (forcing to game), and the next player passes.

You hold:

♠ J 10 4
♥ Q 8 7 2
♦ A K J
♣ 8 5 4

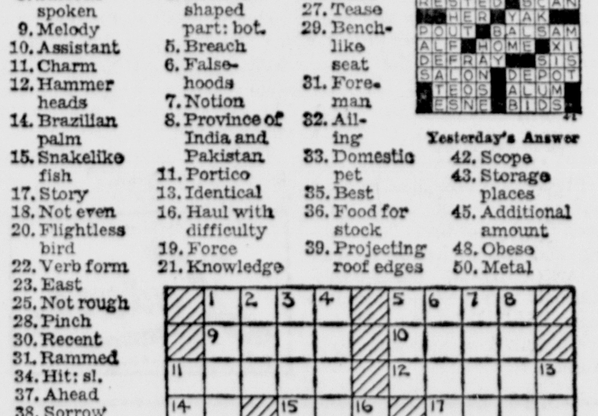

What do you say?

Answer: Bid three spades.

You have fine trump support for a suit in which partner can make an opening two-bid. Another possibility is a jump to three notrump, by-passing the negative response of two no-trump. There is no need to show the ace of diamonds at this moment, for partner can find out about your ace later if he wants to do so.

When a Family Buys A Home in Central Marin . . . Where Do They Come From?

Latest Research* shows that 69.7% of home buyers in Central Marin are ALREADY LIVING in the County.

This is a ratio of MORE THAN 3½ to 1 than from San Francisco.

BUYER ORIGIN	%
Marin County	69.7
San Francisco	19.6

- The Prime Market then, for home sales, is Marin itself . . . and the I-J Classified "gets home" to the people who buy the MOST HOMES in Marin . . . Marin families themselves because the I-J covers 2 out of 3 homes in the County.
- The I-J daily circulation in Marin County is GREATER than that of the San Francisco Chronicle and the Examiner COMBINED!!
- NO WASTE — NO HIGH-PRICED SPACE GOING TO NON-PRODUCTIVE AREAS.

When a Family Buys A Home in Northern Marin . . . Where Do They Come From?

Latest research* shows that 71.9% of home buyers in Northern Marin are ALREADY LIVING in the County.

This is a ratio of almost 5 to 1 MORE than from San Francisco.

BUYER ORIGIN	%
Marin County	71.9
San Francisco	14.6

- The Prime Market then, for home sales, is Marin itself . . . and the I-J Classified "gets home" to the people who buy the MOST HOMES in Marin . . . Marin families themselves because the I-J covers 2 out of 3 homes in the County.
- The I-J daily circulation in Marin County is GREATER than that of the San Francisco Chronicle and the Examiner COMBINED!!
- NO WASTE — NO HIGH PRICED SPACE GOING TO NON-PRODUCTIVE AREAS.

When a Family Buys A Home in Southern Marin . . . Where Do They Come From?

Latest Research* shows that 65.9% of home buyers in Southern Marin are ALREADY LIVING in the County.

This is a ratio of MORE THAN 2 to 1 than from San Francisco.

BUYER ORIGIN	%
Marin County	65.9
San Francisco	31.9

- The Prime Market then, for home sales, is Marin itself . . . and the I-J Classified "gets home" to the people who buy the MOST HOMES in Marin . . . Marin families themselves because the I-J covers 2 out of 3 homes in the County.
- The I-J daily circulation in Marin County is GREATER than that of the San Francisco Chronicle and the Examiner COMBINED!!
- NO WASTE — NO HIGH PRICED SPACE GOING TO NON-PRODUCTIVE AREAS.

Each bond must bear interest from its date to its fixed maturity date at the rate specified in the bid.

REGISTRATION: Coupon bonds will be issued by said Board of Supervisors on behalf of said School District. Such bonds are registrable only as to both principal and interest.

PURPOSE OF ISSUE: Said bonds were authorized by more than two-thirds of the voters voting at an election held in said District on MARCH 1, 1960 and will be issued and sold for the purpose of raising money for authorized school purposes.

SECURITY: The bonds are general obligations of said School District, and said Board of Supervisors has power and is obligated to levy ad valorem taxes for the payment of said bonds and the interest thereon upon all property within said School District, subject to taxation by said School District (except certain intangible personal property, which is taxable at limited rates), without limitation of rate or amount.

TAX EXEMPT STATUS: In the event that prior to the delivery of the bonds the income received by private holders from bonds of the same type and character shall be declared to be taxable under any Federal Income Tax laws, either by the terms of such laws or by ruling of a Federal Income Tax authority or official which is followed by the Internal Revenue Service or by the decision of any Federal Court, the successful bidder may at his option prior to the tender of said bonds by the Board of Supervisors, be relieved of his obligation under the contract to purchase the bonds, and in such case, the deposit accompanying his bid will be returned.

LEGAL OPINION: The legal opinion of the following firm, approving the validity of said bonds, will be furnished to the successful bidder without charge: Orrick, Dahlquist, Herrington and Sutcliffe of San Francisco, California. A copy of the legal opinion certified by the official in whose office the original is filed will be printed on each bond without charge to the successful bidder.

TERMS OF SALE

HIGHEST BIDDER: The bonds will be awarded to the highest responsible bidder or bidders considering the interest rate or rates specified and the premium offered, if any. The highest bid will be determined by deducting the amount of the premium bid (if any) from the total amount of interest which the District would be required to pay from the date of said bonds to the respective maturity dates thereof at the coupon rate or rates specified in the bid and the award will be made on the basis of the lowest net interest cost to the district. The lowest net interest cost shall be computed on a 360-day year basis. The purchaser must pay accrued interest from the date of the bonds to the date of delivery. The cost of printing the bonds will be borne by the district.

RIGHT OF REJECTION: Said Board of Supervisors reserves the right in its discretion to reject any and all bids and to waive any irregularity or informality in any bid.

PROMPT AWARD: The Board of Supervisors will take action awarding the bonds or rejecting all bids not later than 24 hours after the expiration of the time herein prescribed for receipt of proposals; provided that the award may be made after the expiration of the specified time if the bidder shall not have given the Board of Supervisors notice in writing of the withdrawal of such proposal.

PROMPT DELIVERY: Delivery of said bonds will be made to the successful bidder at the office of the County Treasurer of said County as soon as the bonds can be prepared, which it is estimated will be within 30 days from the day of sale.

RIGHT OF CANCELLATION: The successful bidder shall have the right, at his option, to cancel the contract of purchase if the bonds are not tendered for delivery within 60 days from the date of sale thereof, and in such event, the successful bidder shall be entitled to the return of the deposit accompanying his bid.

FORM OF BID: All bids must be for not less than all of the bonds hereby offered for sale, and for not less than the par value thereof and accrued interest to date of delivery. Such bids, together with bidder's check, must be enclosed in a sealed envelope addressed to the Board of Supervisors of said County, and endorsed "Proposal for School Bonds of San Rafael High School District of Marin County."

BID CHECK: With each bid must be submitted a certified check or cashier's check for $1,000.00 drawn on a bank or trust company transacting business in the State of California, payable to the order of the County Treasurer, to secure said school district from any loss resulting from the failure of the bidder to comply with the terms of his bid. In addition, bidders are requested (but not required) to supply an estimate of the total net interest cost to the district on the basis of their respective bids, which shall be considered as informative only and not binding on either the bidder or the district. Checks of the unsuccessful bidders will be returned by the County Clerk by mail upon the award of the bonds. No interest will be paid upon deposit made by the successful bidder.

There is no controversy or litigation pending concerning the validity of the above issue, the corporate existence of said district or the title of the officers to their respective offices and the Board of Supervisors will deliver to the successful bidder a no-litigation certificate certifying to the foregoing as of and at the time of the delivery of the bonds.

Knot In Rope Keeps Flag Low

Passers-by were puzzled yesterday to see the flag flying at half staff at the old E Street School, now the San Rafael schools administration building.

Queried as to who had died, custodians said a knot had gotten into the rope, making it impossible to run the flag to the top. They corrected the problem by mid-afternoon.

Whether the knot was put in by someone as an April's Fool's Day stunt was a question which went unanswered.

Fitness Program

The Saturday physical fitness program conducted by the San Rafael Recreation Department will be held at the San Rafael Recreation Center, 37 Union Street, tomorrow, instead of its usual location at San Rafael High School. The meeting time of the three groups will remain the same, 9, 10 and 11 a.m.

Marinite On National TV

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Krause of Corte Madera saw their daughter, Melinda, for the first time in 18 months last night when she won $500 on the television program, "Password."

Miss Krause, a surgical nurse, returned to New York several weeks ago after touring and working in Europe. During the wait for her car to arrive from Germany, she was accepted for an appearance on the program, her mother said today.

Her partner in the program, broadcast live on KPIX-TV, Channel 5, at 9 p.m. Thursdays, was Arthur Godfrey.

Miss Krause is a graduate of Marin Catholic High School and St. Joseph's School of Nursing in San Francisco.

Corn annually yields more wealth than all the silver, gold, coal and iron produced in the United States.

TELEVISION REVIEW

What's In A Name? Look To The Screen

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The next time your ungrateful child complains about the unusual name you have given him or her, simply direct said child to the cast listings of your television program guide. In no time at all, the offspring in question will be positively bursting with non-conformist pride, and will walk proudly once again among the Jims, Joes and Bobs in the neighborhood.

Who, for instance, would ever think that America would boast two he-man western stars named Lorne and Pernell? I refer, of course, to Lorne Greene and Pernell Roberts of "Bonanza." Tom Mix, yes. Gene Autry, of course. Roy Rogers—why not? But Lorne and Pernell mean that we have surely come of age. Or something.

But hold. There is more. "Gunsmoke," for instance, offers Milburn Stone as "Doc." Not to mention Amanda Blake as "Kitty."

Then there is Zina Bethune of "The Doctors and the Nurses." And Mia Farrow of "Peyton Place." And Ozzie Nelson of "Ozzie and Harriet." And Fess Parker of "Daniel Boone." And E. G. Marshall of "The Defenders." It is my understanding that Marshall goes by the individual nickname of "Eege." Or something.

I see I have forgotten Burgess Merdith of "Mr. Novak" uand Gig Young of "The Rogues."

Television, of course, has helped to impress some of the more unusual names in political life on the public. There is a president named Lyndon. And a vice president named Hubert Horatio. And a Republican named Richard Milhaus Nixon.

John Kennedy's middle name was Fitzgerald. Before him there were Franklin Delano Roosevelt and Warren Gamaliel Harding and Calvin Coolidge and Woodrow Wilson and Grover Cleveland and Ulysses S. Grant.

You may wonder what brought all this up. Well, my real name is Ronald, and I did not like it until a gentleman named Quigg told me that Alexander Woolcott once knew a man named Eccehomo Thrapp, a girl named Dorothy Dusty, and a lady named Miss Naughtbird Kirksey. "Don't put down Ronald," he told me. "Where would Shangri-la be today if it were not for Ronald?"

Oscar Night Is Slated For Monday

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — They pass out the Oscars again Monday night.

Best picture — "My Fair Lady"

Best actor—Rex Harrison

Best actress—Julie Andrews

Best director—George Cukor.

Best supporting actor—Stanley Holloway (Fair Lady)

Best song — "Chim Chim Cher-ee" (Mary Poppins)

COVER BETS

But even the high rollers cover their bets with a few bucks down on a second choice just in case.

Closest thing to a shoo-in is My Fair Lady. But Mary Poppins collected 13 nominations to an even dozen for Fair Lady and has an outside chance to romp home in front.

Actor Harrison is a cinch. Peter O'Toole and Richard Burton co-starred in "Becket" and probably will cancel one another out. This leaves Peter Sellers and Anthony Quinn. Sellers is not popular in Hollywood after his recent blastings; count him out.

Therefore, if Harrison has a challenger it's Quinn for his performance in the title role of "Zorba The Greek." Put a few bob on him.

Best actress is the trickiest category of all.

EMOTIONS HIGH

Emotions run high. Everybody loves Julie Andrews. She is the popular favorite for Mary Poppins. But there is another sentimental favorite, Debbie Reynolds, a local Glendale girl who made good in "The Unsinkable Molly Brown."

Throw out the emotional votes and that leaves Sophia Loren (Marriage Italian Style) who won the Oscar three years ago; Kim Stanley (Seance on a Wet Afternoon; and Anne Bancroft (The Pumpkin Eater) who won the statuette two years ago.

Erase Miss Loren and Miss Bancroft for their recent wins, cross out Miss Stanley because her picture was obscure, and back up your best actress bet with little 'ol Debbie.

Lions Starting Eye Bank Drive

Members of Marin's five Lions Clubs have begun a campaign to persuade county residents to pledge their eyes to the Lions Club Eye Bank in San Francisco.

The campaign began within the clubs' membership, then was opened to include the public.

The eye bank acts as a clearing house through which doctors may acquire corneas for transplanting into the eyes of persons with cataracts or other vision defects.

Eyes must be removed within six hours after death and must be used within 36 hours after that. Pledge cards are available from Marin County opticians, eye examiners and Lions Club sight conservation committee.

MARIN FILM FARE

'Mutiny On Bounty' Due On Screen At Tiburon

By LES DARB

PLAYHOUSE TIBURON

Starting tonight is "Mutiny on the Bounty," film version of the famous Nordhoff and Hall sea story.

As Christian, Marlon Brando is a flop, a twaddle - tongued dandy whose manhood you are inclined to boubt until the film's climax. Trevor Howard avoids the caricature of cruelty associated with Captain Bligh. Instead, he shows a dedicated naval officer determined to do a good job.

RAFAEL THEATER

Now on screen is the sordid little comedy, "Kiss Me, Stupid."

A famous Hollywood singer (Dean Martin) is tricked into staying the night in a Nevada desert town in hopes he will discover the songwriting talent of a yokel piano teacher and a crude gas station attendant who writes lyrics.

The drippy piano teacher is married to the prettiest girl in town and is insanely jealous. He considers using her to bait the singer, then chanegs his mind and hires a local b-girl to do the job.

The film was condemned by the Legion of Decency, which has given it a noteriety it doesn't deserve.

FAIRFAX THEATER

The tense and effective "Seance on a Wet Afternoon" is held over, with Kim Stanley and Richard Attenborough in starring roles.

In one of the new year's best films.

101 DRIVE-IN

Television's James Franciscus stars in "Youngblood Hawke," showing through tomorrow night.

Franciscus starts out as a Kentuckian who drives a coal truck days and writes at night. He is brought to New York by an offer from a publisher.

He signs a contract, gets a big advance and a pretty editor, Miss Suzanne Pleshette. An affair begins.

His first novel is a smash, but after that, things don't go too well.

SEQUOIA THEATER

TAMALPAIS THEATER

Gig Young also enters into this Technicolor farce.

LARK THEATER

Now playing is the French war drama, "The Day and the Hour."

The plot concerns efforts of the underground to get three downed Allied fliers out of occupied France to safety across the Spanish border. One, an American captain is helped by a French woman, the wife of a prisoner of war and mother to small children. She risks everything to get him away.

Simone Signoret and Stuart Whitman star.

NOVATO THEATER

Playing here now is "The Disorderly Orderly."

Co-featured is "Night Passage."

OPENS WEDNESDAY—Geraldine Page, Angela Lansbury and Glenn Ford are the threesome in the tear-jerker, "Dear Heart," opening Wednesday at the Rafael. The hit tune from this production is up for an Acadmy Award for best song of the year.

Scholarship Given Tomales 4-H Member

Wayne R. Parks of Tomales High School has won one of two $400 scholarships offered to outstanding 4-H club members from six Bay Area counties by the California Bankers Assn.

One scholarship goes to the outstanding girl, said Peter J. Ferrarese of Novato. The six counties are Contra Costa, San Joaquin, San Mateo, Solano, Alameda and Marin.

Wayne, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy A. Parks of Tomales, is student body president at Tomales High School. He was also chosen all-league football player last fall. He has been a member of the Tomales 4-H Club for seven years, and has had projects in sheep, food preparation, electrical work, woodworking, poultry, marketing, community improvement, junior leadership and judging. He will use the scholarship to attend California State Polytechnic College in San Luis Obispo.
